'AVAILABLE FOR DUTY' is Mrs. Jane Case of Columbiana, left, discharged switchboard operator at the Courthouse, who sat by today while Mrs. Alma Huffman of East Palestine began regular duties as the new operator appointed by the Republican-controlled Board of Commissioners. Mrs. Case and four other Courthouse workers originally named when Democrats were in power and fired Tuesday, showed up for work today to bolster their claim of Civil Service status and that they cannot summarily be dismissed.

5 Fired From Courthouse Jobs Show Up For Work

Five Courthouse employees, dismissed Friday by the Republican members of the Columbiana County Board of Commissioners, showed up for work today in a move to bolster their claim to Civil Service status.

Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool and Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem have been retained by the four women and one man to represent them in the controversy over whether or not they have the protection of Civil Service classification.

Reporting to their customary jobs were Mrs. Jane Case of Columbiana, switchboard operator; Mrs. Ruth Wining of Columbiana, assistant operator and clerk in the dog warden's office; Miss Patricia Barborak of West Point, photostat operator; Mrs. Camilla Smith of Wellsville, microfilm operator; and Harold Diederick of Lisbon R. D., maintenance man.

Atty. Mauro has advised Commissioner Walter Hunston, president, that the five employees have retained counsel and will continue to report for work and be available for their jobs.

A letter has also been sent to the Ohio Department of Personnel at Columbus by Atty. Mauro, explaining the continuing employment move and declaring that should the names of the five not be found on the county payrolls, "it will not be because the five have failed to report to work."

The commissioners last Friday notified the five workers, along with Miss Sandra Shaw of Lisbon, clerk-typist in the commissioner's office, of their dismissal effective Tuesday. Monday, four employees of the County Tuberculosis clinic were relieved.

The commissioners at the beginning of the month had retained tentatively some 15 employees of the previously Democratic controlled administration.

Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, later said the employees were retained not because of "generosity," but because many were protected through Civil Service status, and could not be released until competitive examinations were held for most posts.

Later, County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw advised Commissioners Hunston and Galen Greenstein the employees were not authorized Civil Service status which Gosney said had been recognized by the Ohio Department of Personnel.

Gosney said the Democratic commissioners in 1959 learned that a number of employees appointed by the previous GOP commissioners had achieved a Civil Service rating. These workers were released before their status was learned, but they were not eligible to continue in their work because they did not report back after their release, Gosney said.

Today's move by the five Courthouse workers is apparently an effort to get back to work.

Introduction Slated Today

Ohio Bill Would Switch Approach Of Murder Jury

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"The jury finds the defendant guilty and recommends death."

Those words may be uttered in some not-too-far-distant day in an Ohio courtroom where a murder case is being tried.

If those words are heard, it will be because the legislature adopts a bill scheduled for introduction in the Ohio House today by Rep. Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood.

His proposal falls somewhere between outright abolition of the death penalty as asked by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the present law which provides death for first-degree murder unless the jury recommends mercy.

The Kurfess bill would switch the entire psychological approach of a murder jury. Instead of being forced to recommend mercy in borderline cases, a jury would be required to take an extra step if it desired to recommend death in connection with a particularly savage murder.

Gov. DiSalle, who failed two years ago to get across his proposal to abolish the death penalty in a legislature dominated by his own party, has promised he will be back with the same proposal later this session.

After 20 days without a roll call, the House Tuesday passed and sent to the Senate bills No. 2

Tied To Burglary Trial

Cunningham Begins Term On Juror-Bribing Charge

Tra (Nig) Cunningham, who has protested his innocence in the 1956 police burglary scandal for five years, today began a 15-year prison term for a crime only indirectly connected with the original incidents.

The 54-year-old former police officer was conveyed to the Ohio State Prison at Columbus to serve out a sentence for attempting to bribe a prospective juror in a 1956 trial for breaking and entering a city hardware store nine years ago.

Taken to the penitentiary along with Cunningham was Joseph Stephen Volke, 33, of North Lima, who begins a 15-year sentence for burglary of the garage of Lawrence Coy of Columbiana Nov. 11. He pleaded guilty at arraignment and asked for immediate sentencing.

The two were conveyed by sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and Deputy Howard Gray.

Cunningham, whose conviction of the burglary charge was reversed by the 7th District Court of Appeals, failed to win an appeal on the bribery charge in the appellate court, and his attempt to appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court (Turn to CUNNINGHAM, Page 5) and No. 3 of the session. No. 1, a big corrective measure, was passed at the start of this year's session.

Ham Rocketed 155 Miles High

Chimp Signals Man's Space Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Winding up a space flight with a chipper, cheerful handshake, a chimpanzee called Ham today signalled a go-ahead for man to enter space safely.

Ham is due back this afternoon to this rocket space port—which he left mightily abruptly Tuesday atop a Redstone rocket.

The largest animal ever sent aloft, Ham's trip 155 miles high and 420 miles southeast into the Atlantic into the rescuing hands of the U.S. Navy carried several main significances:

1. It indicates manned space flight is feasible. An American astronaut is scheduled this spring to duplicate Ham's daring flight.
2. The Soviets appear likely to win the race to be first to orbit a man around the earth.
3. A very slight mis-firing in the rocket system hurling out Ham's capsule may well require further tests with or without a chimp aboard, before a man goes (Turn to CHIMP, Page 6)

New U.S. Rocket Hits Target At 4,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Minuteman missile, America's hope for a pushbutton war weapon, scored an amazing success on its first test flight today.

A jubilant Air Force reported 20 minutes after the 11 a. m. EST launching that all three stages had fired successfully and that the rocket had landed on target in the south Atlantic Ocean, more than 4,000 miles away.

tailed photographs of any point on earth and thus detect a buildup by a potential foe.

The mission is so secret that the Air Force won't even confirm that the satellite, launched Tuesday, will radio pictures back to earth. The orbiting vehicle is equipped with cameras to photograph ground terrain and sensors to record electro-magnetic radiation.

It can be made to transmit information as it passes over stations where data can be reproduced, stored, integrated and interpreted by automatic display equipment.

Signals from Samos II were being picked up by tracking and telemetry stations at Vandenberg Air Force Base at Oahu, Hawaii and at Kodiak, Alaska.

All orbital data was being received at the Air Force Satellite Test Center in Sunnyvale, Calif., south of San Francisco.

Samos I, launched last October, failed to orbit.

No. 2 in the series roared aloft into a drizzly sky at 12:23 p. m. Tuesday and disappeared in a heavy overcast. Two hours later the Air Force said it had achieved polar orbit. Its path carries the satellite at altitudes ranging from 300 to 350 miles.

Wage Tax Bill Drafted Faces Finance Units

Legislature Gives West Virginia Plan Prompt Attention

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Whatever its fate, Gov. Barron's newly introduced bill to enact a state personal income tax in West Virginia is receiving prompt attention in the Legislature.

It was introduced Tuesday in both houses and referred to their Finance Committees.

Today, some of the Tax Department officials and tax lawyers who cooperated in drafting the 68-page bill appeared before the Senate Finance Committee to explain it and answer questions. Sen. Hans McCourt, D-Webster, heads the committee.

The same people are scheduled to go before the House Finance Committee tomorrow. House Finance Chairman Ivor F. Boiarsky, D-Kanawha, said his committee would give consideration of the income tax measure priority over other bills.

The bill's first legislative test will come when someone in one of (Turn to TAX, Page 6)

Rules Victory May Spur Plan Of President

WASHINGTON (AP)—After scoring an important victory on enlargement of its Rules Committee, the House Democratic leadership digs in today for a long fight to enact President Kennedy's legislative program.

The fight probably will be a tough one, since Tuesday's victory for the Kennedy administration and Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas was won with only a five-vote margin.

The House voted 217 to 212 to back Rayburn's plan to enlarge the Rules Committee from 12 to 15 members, wresting committee control from a conservative coalition. Theoretically this puts liberal Democrats in control by an 8-7 edge.

The White House reported Kennedy was pleased with the outcome. Officially he had taken no direct part in the fight, but left no doubt that he favored the Rayburn plan.

Under Tuesday's action, Democrats will add two members to the committee and Republicans will add one. Republicans also have two vacancies to fill on the committee.

11 Enter City Ballot; Total Climbs To 184

More Expected By Deadline Today To Seek Primary Spot

Eleven more East Liverpool candidates filed overnight with the County Election Board for May 2 primary ballot places, along with 16 from other communities, pushing to 184 the number entered a few hours before the deadline this afternoon at 4.

Five Republicans and two Democrats comprised the field of new entries at the board's office this morning, including:

Councilman Robert B. Laughlin, 209 W. 2nd St., seeking Democratic renomination for a second term.

John W. Paul, 1052 St. Clair Ave., a salesman for the Midway Oil Co., asking the Republican nomination for Council president.

Paul H. Zehnder, 1323 Fairmont St., an employee of the Sayre Electric Co., seeking the Republican nomination for Third Ward councilman.

Councilman Donald E. Smith of Woodbine Ave., seeking Democratic renomination in the Third Ward. He had announced previously.

Judson W. Allison, 1526 Wyoming Ave., a salesman and a onetime candidate for the Board of Education, seeking Republican nomination for councilman-at-large.

Atty. Donald E. Smith, 747 Mayberry Ln., first to enter for the GOP nomination for city solicitor.

450 Brave Snow, Cold

Women Volunteers Collect $2,692 In March Of Dimes

Despite snow, slippery streets and cold weather, 450 women volunteers collected more than $2,692 Tuesday night in the East Liverpool area in the annual Mothers March on Polio.

The incomplete total is down approximately $400 from the $3,100 collected in the 1960 drive, but coin containers have not been turned in from some areas, campaign officials said.

Although a snowfall made walking difficult, particularly in suburban areas, none of the women shirked her assignment or registered a complaint at drive headquarters, sponsors said.

The chairmen heard of one woman who fell three times in one block while making rounds in the North Side area.

The women volunteers turned in their collections to district captains, who then took the funds to the headquarters at the First National Bank. The headquarters was staffed by Mr. and Mrs. James (Turn to POLIO FUND, Page 6)

Assurances Sent Rebels Of Asylum

Brazil's New Chief Ponders Decision Of Captive Vessel

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—The Santa Maria headed in from the South Atlantic toward Recife with her captive passengers today, but stopped short of the dock for another parley to determine future action.

A U.S. Navy spokesman announced this development as President Janio Quadros met with his cabinet in Brasilia, 1,000 miles to the southwest, to decide what to do about the hijacked ship.

As for the rebels themselves, Quadros sent assurances of political asylum to their chief, Capt. Henrique Galvao. He promised not to do anything more than existing laws permit.

Quadros' message did not measure up completely to Galvao's request to unload passengers, refuel and return to sea to continue his fight against the dictatorial regime in Portugal.

The new chief executive, inaugurated Tuesday, radioed felicitations to Galvao and recalled a meeting they had several months ago in Caracas, Venezuela. It was in Caracas that Galvao plotted seizure of the $16.6 million Portuguese liner in hopes of starting to unseat Portugal's premier, Antonio Salazar.

Quadros showed concern for the passengers aboard, saying: "We accompany with profound feelings the fortunes of the hundreds of passengers who find themselves under your guard and responsibility."

Newell Waits Dimes Drive

Solicitation Tonight Will Aid Polio Fund

The March of Dimes campaign for Newell will be held tonight with door-to-door solicitation by the junior and senior auxiliaries of American Legion Post 114.

The campaign is sponsored jointly by the auxiliary and the Lions Club. Richard Smith is Lions chairman.

The junior auxiliary members, eighth graders, will solicit from 5 to 7, and the senior auxiliary from 7 to 9. Mrs. Mae Hupp, president, reported.

Residents have been asked to turn on their porch lights during solicitation hours. An adult worker will accompany each group of two junior auxiliary members during the campaign.

Auxiliary members have been asked to report to the post home at 5 p. m. to receive instructions and collection materials. Mrs. Hupp announced. The Legion home will serve as headquarters for the drive.

Hot chocolate and cookies will be served junior auxiliary members when they complete their canvass.

Jennifer Thornberry is president of the junior auxiliary. Smith, campaign chairman, was named by R. A. (Bert) Byers of Weirton, county chairman.

Judge Urges Mental Tests In Attack Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge Benjamin Schwartz of Juvenile Court says he won't consider jurisdiction in the case of a Negro youth, 16, who admitted raping a white hospital worker, until the youth has mental tests. The judge reported Tuesday night on plans for psychiatric study for the tall, thin youth.

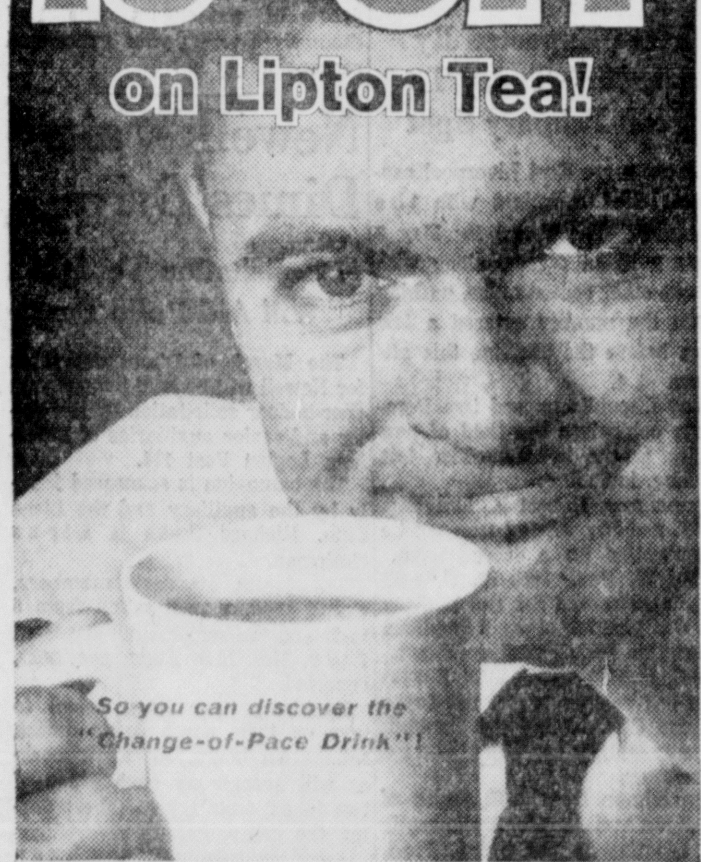

The youth, a dishwasher at the hospital, was arrested Monday night after an 18-year-old college student who does volunteer hospital work said she was raped at knifepoint in a storeroom. Police said the youth admitted knifing a girl in a Central High School washroom last August and forcing three other white women to disrobe under threat.

Thermal Underwear by Munsingwear.

Norse and other Scandinavian fishermen traditionally threw their fish nets over their backs for warmth after a day's fishing. From this practice came Munsingwear's Thermal Underwear for the Outdoor Worker and Sportsman. Made with a knit waffle pattern that traps the air... and prevents evaporation by lateral body movement. Finished with Munsingwear's accustomed care, this underwear gives full coverage; has (1) Elastic Waistband, (2) Stretchy Seat which stretches when you bend, (3) Taped Shoulders and (4) Double Cuffs.

publican nomination for Second Ward councilman.

Three new East Liverpool Council candidates were among the 12 who filed with the board yesterday afternoon.

They are Donald A. Ramsey, 509 Maryland Ave., for the Republican nomination for First Ward councilman, Edward B. Massey, 218 W.

O'Hanlon Returns

Home After Surgery

Frank R. O'Hanlon, veteran clerk of the Columbiana County Election Board, returned to his Minerva St. home Tuesday afternoon after he was released from Cleveland Clinic, where he underwent surgery in early December and again last week.

It was his first visit to the Election Board office since Dec. 7, when he left to enter the clinic. He spent the interval between operations with his sister, Mrs. Robert Jenkins, of Sturgis, Mich.

4th St., a Democratic candidate for Fourth Ward councilman, and James Moore, 1978 Lisbon St., for the Democratic nomination for councilman-at-large.

In addition, Paul V. Baxter of McKinnon Ave. filed for the Republican nomination for mayor, confirming an announcement he made about a week ago.

Four new Wellsville candidates also were listed yesterday afternoon, including two who had announced previously.

Mrs. Mary Rahter entered to seek renomination as Council president on the Democratic ticket and William F. Bratt, 319 Wells Ave., filed for the Democratic nomination for First Ward councilman.

Earlier announcements were made by the two others who entered officially: Aguin Bowling, Republican, for councilman-at-large, and Norman L. Haught, Republican, for the Fourth Ward Council seat.

Three East Palestine candidates entered yesterday afternoon: Homer A. Freer, for the Democratic nomination for mayor; Charles H. Brant, Republican, for the Second Ward Council seat, and Frank L. Early, Republican, for councilman-at-large.

Michael Schuller, a Republican, filed for Salem Council president. Joseph Dornon, Republican, entered for a two-year term on Lisbon Council.

Other new candidates listed this morning are: John E. Porter, 217 Wells Ave., Wellsville, for the Republican nomination for First Ward councilman in Wellsville; James G. Aldom, Democrat, for councilman-at-large in Salem; Paul J. Adams, Republican, for councilman-at-large, and William H. Martin, Democrat, for First Ward councilman, both in East Palestine, and Walter Zeitler, John C. Thompson and Dale A. Kadich, all Democrats for the Lisbon Board of Public Affairs.

Here's the background on the new East Liverpool and Wellsville candidates:

Ramsey is employed at the chemical laboratory at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co., where he has worked 11 years.

He serves as GOP central committeeman in Precinct 1-D. Ramsey is a member of St. Ann Catholic Church and several civic and fraternal orders. He is scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 60, sponsored by St. Ann Church, and serves on 2 district scout committees.

A graduate of McKinley High School at Niles, he attended the University of Idaho and Montana State College. He is married and the father of two sons. He is a World War II veteran of the Air Force.

Massey, a millwright, has been employed at Crucible 19 years. Married and the father of four children, he is a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church and Elks Lodge 258. An East Liverpool native, he is making his first bid for public office.

Moore was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for mayor in 1959 a few months ago he was an applicant for a Council-at-large seat vacated when Clinton R. Severs resigned. Moore operates the Midway Diner on the River Rd. and also is employed as an electrician at Crucible.

An East Liverpool resident for 25 years, he is a member of the Bradshaw Ave. Church of Christ and the Moose Lodge. He is married and has two children.

Mrs. Rahter, owner of Rahter's Wallpaper Store, will be running for the second consecutive term. She served as Council president in 1956-57 and then was defeated in the 1957 primaries in a bid for mayor. She is president of the Wellsville Democratic Women's Club.

Bratt, a self-employed carpenter, was defeated for the Second Ward Council seat about five years ago. He is a member of American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville, having served as past commander, a past commander of the Columbiana County American Legion Council, and a past division commander. He also is a member of the First Methodist Church, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5647 and the Elks Lodge. He is married and has two sons and a daughter.

Berg is a member of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church, American Legion Post 374 and the 40 & 8 Society, past exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge and past president of the McKinley Parent-Teacher Association. An East Liverpool native, he is a World War II veteran. He is making his first bid for political office. Laughlin, an employee of Homer Laughlin China Co., is a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church. He served 4 years in the Army Medical Corps in World War II, winning the Bronze Star medal. He now is rounding out his first term.

Paul is a former councilman-at-large and one-time candidate for mayor. Zehnder, a member of the East Liverpool Republican Club, is on the Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Porter is making his second attempt for the nomination. He was defeated in a four-way race at the last primary. A World War II veteran, he formerly was employed by the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and the Homer Laughlin China Co. He is an inspector officer in IBOP Local 141, Oddmen and Laborers, and is a member of United Steelworkers Union 1212.

He also is affiliated with Contractors Union 809 at Steubenville. He is married, has three sons and a daughter, and attends the Free Methodist Church in Wellsville.

Dwight MacLean is seeking the Republican nomination for Second Ward Council in Wellsville instead of First Ward Council as reported Tuesday.

Democrats At Lisbon

To Enter Village Slate

LISBON — Robert S. Harold, manager of the M & N's Theater, will head a Democratic slate of candidates for village offices at the coming primary. He will seek the nomination for mayor in his first bid for office.

Others on the Democratic ticket will be Paul A. Brownfield and Russell Ingledue, candidates for the two-year terms of Council, and C. Robert McNally, M. C. O'Brien, Rex Teegarden and Russell Albright, four-year Council terms.

Mrs. Mary E. Sowards, beauty operator, is seeking the clerk-treasurer post.

Palestine Candidate

To Contest For Mayor

EAST PALESTINE — Homer A. Freer of Alice St. filed Tuesday as a Democratic candidate for the mayor nomination in the May 2 primary, contesting James Knight of E. Martin St., who filed last week.

Freer, operator of a furniture repair concern, ran unsuccessfully for mayor in 1958 and 1960.

Moore Is Named Fighter Of Month

NEW YORK (AP) — Featherweight champion Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio, today was named Ring magazine's "fighter of the month" for his fourth round technical knockout victory over Spain's Fred Galiana at Madrid.

There were minor changes in the ratings of every division. Tom McNeeley, unbeaten young Arlington, Mass., heavyweight, was ranked for the first time. He made the No. 10 spot.

Hancock Lists 21 Accidents

Hancock County escaped a traffic fatality in January but there were 21 accidents involving 38 vehicles, the office of Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny reported today.

In his monthly report, the sheriff said 11 cases of personal injuries were attributed to the accidents while total damage to all vehicles involved was $6,917.

Sheriff's deputies served 170 court papers, with total mileage on county-owned vehicles for serving papers and road patrols was 15,450 for the 31-day period.

Deputies made a total of 31 arrests and released 56 prisoners. Thirteen are presently confined in County Jail in New Cumberland.

During the month, 21 were confined by deputies, 12 by Weirton, one by Chester, 4 by New Cumberland, one by Pennsylvania Railroad police and 5 by constables.

Of the total prisoners confined, 4 were charged with felonies and 40 for misdemeanors.

Four patients were transported to Weston State Hospital, one youngster taken to the County Children's Home, and one youth to Boys Industrial School.

Deputies investigated six reported breaking and enterings during the month.

issue bonds for food service centers. The measure's immediate goal is to give that authority to Miami University for a $300,000 facility.

The other would repeal an obsolete law applying to judicial salaries.

One of the top measures offered Tuesday was a proposed constitutional amendment providing four-year terms for state representatives. Approval by three-fifths of each house of the proposal by Rep. D. O. Taber, R-Gallia, would send it to the statewide ballot for a final decision by the voters. Voters in 1956 approved four-year terms for state senators after turning down, in 1954, a combined proposal which would have given both senators and House members four-year terms.

Briefly, among 26 new bills introduced Tuesday were measures to:

Require each Ohio motor vehicle to have an outside rear-vision mirror as well as one on the inside.

Allow liquor permit holders who violate the laws or regulations to pay what would amount to fines—rather than closing during suspension periods—if a suspension was for 60 days or less. The fines would range from $10 to $100 a day, depending upon the type of permit held. The bill was sponsored by Sen Arthur Blake, D-Martins Ferry.

If Just This Once

Nikita Khrushchev will come back to New York in March.

He would be crazy if he didn't come back. Where else on this battered earth could he make more political hay in brighter sunshine than he can make in the good old U.S.A.?

If he comes by ship, the press will meet his ship at sea so they can take down his quips and record his grimaces early.

Reporters, radio and TV spicers and cameramen will dog his tracks 24 hours a day. Every time he flashes his gold-toothed smile or utters another aphorism, it will be flashed to every corner of the republic because it is news and it says here that in America Congress shall make no law abridging . . . etc.

The prospect of a Khrushchev visit in March, following his successful razz-ma-tazz last fall, is as happy an occasion to look forward to as a return of seven-year locusts. But Khrushchev really would be crazy if he didn't come back, because he has made a fateful discovery about the United States.

THIS COUNTRY cannot stick to a strong line of voluntary resolve. Self-discipline is contrary to the nature of the American people and state discipline is contrary to their written Constitution.

If a visiting fireman like Khrushchev were not a show-business personality, no one would pay any attention to him—not even if the government wanted a five-alarm fuss. Arrangements could be made for him to ride down Broadway, with confetti showered down by prearrangement. But if he hadn't been three-sheeted by the press, the show would be a flop.

Let Khrushchev so much as announce that he expects to be here before the flowers in May and the house is packed. He will steal the show. His act will get more attention than an old-time Minsky blackout. Everything he does will be duly reported and recorded.

People used to wonder why it was a bigger event in this mixed-up world when Joe Stalin belched than it was when Winston Churchill made one of his beautifully phrased speeches. They never found out.

Today, the biggest event there can be in the news is Premier Khrushchev going anywhere and doing anything—belching, pounding a table with his shoe, eating a sandwich, dancing a jig, patting a kid on the head.

Dwight D. Eisenhower's last big pitch as an international showman was his overseas traveling, but Nikita Khrushchev can get as much attention by merely arriving in New York City to attend the United Nations. It is very strange, utterly baffling, and there's nothing than can be done about it.

ANYONE NAIVE enough to think the U.S. press, radio, television and the public itself could keep Khrushchev at arm's length is naive. That isn't the way it works.

While Khrushchev is in New York, the head of our own government will do well to get his name in the papers. If the Russian premier brings along Mrs. Khrushchev, even Jacqueline Kennedy will be lucky to get her picture in the papers. And if the great international scene-stealer takes off both shoes this time and has a new batch of earthy aphorisms to make headlines and put exclamation points on interviews, Washington will have nothing but its cherry blossoms to keep it from turning into a ghost town this spring.

If just this once Khrushchev and his fans could be made to feel he isn't the boss man of the earth—the wittest, most influential fellow in politics . . .

Mister Sam By Five

It's curious that so many people who know little and care less about the Rules Committee of the House of Representatives should be thinking about it now in connection with the Kennedy administration.

This technical issue became dramatic when Franklin Roosevelt tried to pack the Supreme Court 23 years ago, after it had knocked out some of his pet measures because they were unconstitutional.

The issue over the Rules Committee under the Kennedy administration was whether it would be able to bottle up proposed laws its conservative members did not like. And once more the way out was to pack the committee to change its balance—from 8 to 10 Democrats and from 4 to 5 Republicans.

That was the technical part of the issue. The dramatic part was the showdown between the Kennedy administration's man in the House of Representatives, Speaker Sam Rayburn, and the loyal opposition, including certain Democrats whose noses were ever meant to be used by "Mister Sam" for leading them where he wanted to go.

In a larger sense, the showdown was between the Kennedy administration, which wanted the Rules Committee packed, and the members of the House of Representatives. Their appraisal of what their constituents wanted them to do relative to the new administration was going to determine the outcome of the vote.

"Mister Sam" mustered a five-vote margin—as thin as a margin can be. The roll call vote was 217-212.

That meant the House of Representatives was no more certain than voters at the polls last Nov. 8 that the New Frontier must be reached at any cost. It was another vote for moderation.

This will be its effect on the House of Representatives and on the members of the Rules Committee. The moderates will be furious again.

But like it or not, that's the way the country is bouncing.

The enlarged Rules Committee will be as cagey as the unenlarged and presumably unenlightened one was, because it, too, will be composed of men who have to run for re-election in two years. If there's one place not to run for re-election, it's on the end of a limb.

People who know little and care less about the Rules Committee have learned this one thing about it from recent discussion.

Its job is to save representatives from voting on issues they would rather duck. It is understood, of course, that members of the committee will be blamed for this, just as the fellow who steps in to avert a fight is blamed. Though both would-be pugilists are grateful.

Students Can't Afford To Be Wrong

The official Soviet newspaper that gives all the propaganda that's fit to print to Russian youth has been hinting that technical school students shouldn't be afraid to criticize their teachers.

The gist of the propaganda is that they shouldn't be scared of their preceptors. This is contrary to a common impression that the penalty for telling off a Communist teacher is to be pushed off the scholarship list, which is the same thing in Soviet education as being given a life sentence of hard labor.

There's an old psychology in authoritarian countries that prompts officialdom to show how broadminded it is by chiding the little people for not talking back. A few years ago in Communist China, the little people were urged to get it off their chests, and they responded enthusiastically. Thereafter, a good many of them went to the place bad Communists go if officialdom writes them off as useful assets.

Perhaps that chilling news never reached Russian students. Whether it did or not, they can't be blamed for being disposed toward silence. No student ever won a passing grade by disagreeing with his teacher—not even with the teachers who said the atom couldn't be split, that the earth was flat and that Malaria was caused by breathing the air that blew from swamps.

Russian students, if they know what's good for them, will disagree with their teachers silently, as has been done by wise students from the beginning of time. Having learned the accepted truth of the moment, they will be free to undermine it at leisure.

The Once Over

Luxury-liner cruises these days can have all the elements of a Hollywood movie, a revolution, a revival of a Capt. Kidd thriller, a political fracas and a seagoing international crisis. (All this and a pursuit by frigates, cruisers, airplanes and submarines, too!) A liner's stern may be in the hands of rebels while the bow is in custody of the official government.

The United Nations has seen everything and may yet get a Security Council debate over to determine when is piracy not an act of piracy.

Some 600 passengers on the Santa Maria thought they were taking a relaxing trip and wound up discovering they were performers in a story out of Herman Melville and Robert Louis Stevenson's adventure tales. You still can't convince some of them it wasn't all directed by Charles Laughton.

People used to take ocean trips for nervous breakdowns. Now they get them as soon as the anchor is pulled up. We look for the following cruise advertisements:

"Bored with life? Why not let a world cruise raise your heartbeat, stir your emotions and leave you gasping? Be different! Take your vacation on a ship that may change hands any minute."

"Book passage on the Sea Empress now. Never a dull moment, day or night. Your swimming pool acquaintance may be a pirate bold. Your promenade deck friend may turn out to be a hijacker. Your bridge partner can be a revolutionist at work."

"No extra charge for a seat at the outlaws' table. Don't ask about the ports you will visit; just inquire about the ones you will skip. Visit the luxurious Mutiny on the Bounty Lounge! See the Captain Kidd Salon. Make sure the steward gives you a bullet-proof vest and directs you to your REFUGE STATION. Plan a sea voyage now and enjoy the suspense of not knowing who's in charge!"

(We expect one day to hear passengers demand their money back because they had an uneventful, restful and quiet sea trip.)

ARTHUR SCHLESINGER, now in a presidential post, is a "Frontier" finder who always has a couple of spare frontiers just in case.

President Kennedy's White House physician is a woman doctor, Janet G. Travell. She's been his physician since 1955 when she cured the back ailment that plagued him for years. (Looks like she gave him the right vitamins to provide ambition and pep.)

The late A. C. Gilbert, inventor of the "Erector" set, got the idea one day watching the construction work in electrifying the New Haven Railroad. Up to that point he had been making moderately popular games of magic.

Subtle As A Stick Of Dynamite

Retraining Eyed For Jobless

By Victor Riesel

The White House will not reach back into the depression of the '30s for a solution to the recession of the '60s. There will be "imaginative spending" — not "timid penny-pinching."

There will be no outpouring of billions of dollars. There will be no federal works projects, no WPA, and no vast relief machinery. There will be "target" spending in specific areas to ease special problems instead of spreading a vast "money umbrella" over the entire country.

Couple this sentiment with a belief in tax reform to convince industry to mushroom up vast new plants — and you have the policies of those who launched with President Kennedy last Friday for a final discussion of his State of the Union message.

Some of the "imaginative spending" will put dollars into one new national project — if Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg has his way. And not many dollars at that. Mr. Goldberg is eager to shift thousands on thousands of jobless from depression areas to boom towns, from dead skills to space-age training.

Before he gets to "Operation" retraining and relocation for the folks dislocated from their jobs, the labor secretary wants to put "some guts" into the little known United States Employment Service. This is no reflection on the men who have been running it as a skeletal central office out of Washington.

FOR DECADES now it has fallen almost into disuse. It operates under the Bureau of Employment Security without local offices across the nation.

Its regional work is handled in each area by a State Employment Service. These have become little more than distribution centers for unemployment insurance checks.

The USES hit skid row back in the '30s when it did have active regional headquarters. At that time (about 1934) these were called National Reemployment Offices.

In "those days" the service went out and found jobs and helped folks retrain. It also referred the unemployed to the relief offices. After a while the National Reemployment headquarters became a sort of economic Port Said. It suffered from the stigma of being a down and out port of call.

Now Mr. Goldberg plans to revitalize the service. He wants to use it to mobilize manpower resources and analyze skills.

HE WANTS it spread across the land so it coordinates the retraining of the displaced and then shifts newly skilled jobless workers to prosperous regions where help is needed.

Thus a national employment service with "guts" can become a countrywide rapidly moving employment agency. The United States is the only industrial country without such a national employment service. Mr. Goldberg wants this corrected.

His public talk about the unemployment problem being "tough" has not been mere propaganda. While pulling statistics together during the week for his lunch with the President, he noted that joblessness now is rolling over the 5.75 million mark.

Of course he noted a record-breaking employment figure of over 67.1 million. But 13.3 million of these are only partially employed. True, most of these workers want such part-time jobs. But not all. At least 2.8 million just can't find fulltime jobs.

THIS MEANS that 8.5 million are either out of work or just about meeting food and rent bills with half pay. Everyone of these statistics is a worried breadwinner with neighbors who begin worrying about being laid off themselves and then begin tightening up their own budgets. It's tougher than you think.

Priority will go to the 1.5 million long-time jobless in the depressed areas. These are not just in West Virginia or rural southern Illinois. There are poverty pockets in New York, Chicago and Detroit — right in the heart of these big cities.

These are the sectors which will be relieved first by the "imaginative spending," by massive retraining, by relocation by a national employment service with "guts."

It will be done quickly. It must be done swiftly. It is unthinkable that any one in our land should ever want for bread or be unable to find a job with dignity.

Tremendous Lobby?

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON President Kennedy's televised news conferences—with the second coming today — could become a tremendous lobby for him.

1. From coast to coast he will reach various groups affected by his programs and by so doing stimulate them into pressuring Congress for action.

2. He will, to a degree never achieved by any other president, keep himself in the public mind.

He could, of course, manufacture disaster by pulling some prize boners in national view. He seems confident that he won't.

Washington is full of lobbyists paid by pressure groups to work on Congress for or against something.

Presidents from time to time have done their own lobbying.

Presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower took to the airways when they had an explanation to make or sought public support.

But these were only occasional performances in special situations.

True, Eisenhower's news conferences also were televised, but they were shown later and then only in fragments.

Kennedy, with live TV appearances at every news conference, could make his three predecessors' efforts on behalf of themselves look meager.

Kennedy won't have to make any appeal. His answers to reporters' questions will include his ideas, proposals and programs.

Since at any one conference he will cover a varied field, his answers will have special interest to various affected groups.

For example, his proposals on a medical care plan for the aged will get the acute attention of older people.

He doesn't have to look at them through the camera and say, "I wish you'd back me."

His statement of the proposal—and perhaps an indication he is having trouble getting Congress to go along—will be in-petent enough for a lot of people to get after Congress.

From a political standpoint — provided Kennedy doesn't make big blunders—the live TV news conferences should be of inestimable help to him.

He was a great unknown to most Americans when he began the presidential campaign. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was a widely known public figure with eight years to put himself in the public mind.

Nothing in the whole campaign did so much to shove Kennedy into the public consciousness as his TV debates with Nixon.

This public consciousness of him should increase beyond measure in four years of appearing weekly, more or less, on TV screens from coast to coast.

If he wants to run again in 1964, he'll have a firm foundation.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Wells-ville Council discussed the construction of a proposed filtration plant and the improvement of the McQueen Run Rd. within the corporation limits.

Andrew Petrick, golf professional at the Zanesville Country Club, was named pro at the East Liverpool Country Club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Firemen were called to a home at 410 W. 5th St. after a furnace exploded from accumulated gas, filling the basement with smoke.

The Columbiana County election board's proposal for the division of the Calcutta precinct of St. Clair Township was protested in a notice filed by 125 electors, who asked establishment of a precinct in Bloomfield.

The Louthan Manufacturing Co. announced plans for an addition to its plant on Harvey Ave. to house its offices.

TEN YEARS AGO — Peggy Campbell received a gold bar for 11 years Sunday School attendance at the Georgetown Methodist Church.

Dr. John W. Hayes was re-elected president of the Board of Trustees of the East Liverpool Osteopathic Hospital.

The 1950 Christmas seal campaign in Chester raised $611, with Mrs. Frank Richmond as chairman.

Powerful Foes

Insects not only destroy lives, properties and crops; they change history as well.

The mosquito, the louse and the fly have felled empires and prevented others from being conquered.

When malaria mosquitoes penetrated Greece in 400 B.C., the brilliance of early European civilization began to dim. Records show that Greek farmers fled from marshy regions, causing food shortages that contributed to the decline of the national well-being.

But mosquitoes repeatedly saved Rome, which stood above malarial swamps. Many more invaders were killed by mosquito needles than by Roman swords.

In the 1890's yellow fever mosquitoes defeated France's attempt to build the Panama Canal. Malaria mosquitoes delayed the Allied conquest of Sicily in World War II.

Lice are as powerful and deadly as mosquitoes. Carriers of typhus, they thwarted Germany's hope of taking Hungary from the Turks in 1566. The insects not only dispersed the 80,000-man German army, but spread typhus in southeastern Europe.

The great Napoleon was a weakling when pitted against the louse. A typhus epidemic was a factor in his 1812 retreat from Moscow and Russia, setting the stage for his eventual downfall.

Utopian Objectives

By David Lawrence

President Seen Contradictory On Domestic Issues

If the aspirations of President John F. Kennedy, as revealed in his State of the Union address to Congress, could ever be fulfilled, he would be the greatest chief executive in our history.

If the rest of the world heeded his plea to reform themselves and shape their policies to conform to President Kennedy's ideas, especially in the use of our funds, Utopia would be just around the corner. In fact, the President's cordial invitation to the Russians to join us on a trip to Venus and Mars wouldn't seem so unreal either.

On international policy, it was a splendid message — in keeping with the ideals set forth time and again by President Eisenhower.

On domestic policy, the speech was a series of contradictions between hope and reality, between theory and practicality.

While painting a gloomy picture of the internal economy of the United States and presenting a fine analysis of the gold problem — on which, incidentally, his views are as "sound as a dollar" — there wasn't a single sentence that explained the causes of the so-called recession.

Mr. Kennedy professed not to "indict the past" but he proceeded nevertheless to do just that. He spoke on seven years of diminished economic growth, though the figures show that the gross national product has increased every year in that period.

Later on, the President qualified his verdict somewhat by saying that after 1958 our gross national product never regained its full potential.

There were few details as to what the new administration intends to do about all the ills which it says are present in our domestic economy, though it promises that the new program of expenditures, "including revenue from a stimulation of the economy, will not of and by themselves unbalance the earlier budget."

It's difficult to know just what this means, though evidently the purpose is to reassure everybody that inflation of the dollar isn't going to be the remedy.

It's hard, however, to see how the government will balance its budget when it proposes such vast spending programs as Mr. Kennedy mentioned, or how the cost of living will be kept down.

The truth is Mr. Kennedy didn't say a word about the state of economic anarchy which has swept America — the assertion of economic power by irresponsible groups. Today the unemployed can't get jobs because the wage level has gone up faster than companies can absorb.

Profits are reduced but wages never. Indeed the AFL-CIO is demanding a 30-hour week with the same pay as for 40 hours. This is hardly the way to increase employment. It is the road to more bankruptcies.

THE DOMESTIC part of the President's address was plainly political and partisan. It raised high hopes and talked optimistically of desired reforms. How can they really be achieved? Mr. Kennedy spoke two sentences in his address that will puzzle Americans a good deal. He said:

"Before my term has ended, we shall have to test anew whether a nation organized and governed such as ours can endure. The outcome is by no means certain."

Did the President mean that a controlled economy would have to be imposed from the top?

Did he mean that, in the present state of conflicting forces, the groups with the largest vote-getting power are to be heeded, irrespective of the merit of their demands?

How can any pressure group be made aware of its responsibility to the nation if the President himself in his message to Congress completely ignores the irresponsibility of such groups which have brought on the present recession and could conceivably make it worse?

On the military side, the President's proposals will be welcomed as a sound policy of protection. As to the words addressed to foreign nations, Mr. Kennedy's advisers gave him the right counsel.

He does not minimize the Communist threat. Indeed, he pointedly drew attention, for instance, to Latin America as an area in which "Communist agents seeking to exploit the region's peaceful revolution of hope have established a base on Cuba, only 90 miles from our shores."

MR. KENNEDY declared flatly, amid applause, that, Communist domination in this hemisphere can never be negotiated.

There was, moreover, a note of restraint in holding forth the olive branch of negotiation with respect to other world problems. Mr. Kennedy made an eloquent plea for support of the United Nations and warned smaller nations not to abandon their ideals.

Perhaps most significant was the President's statement that, "No Atlantic power can meet on its own the mutual problems now facing us in defense, foreign aid, monetary reserves and a host of other areas."

Most important in the whole address was the following succinctly worded statement:

"The first great obstacle is still our relations with the Soviet Union and Communist China. We must never be lulled into believing that either power has yielded its ambitions for world domination — ambitions which they forcefully restated only a short time ago."

"On the contrary, our task is to convince them that aggression and subversion will not be profitable routes to pursue these ends."

This utterance transcends all others in the address and, if pursued by Mr. Kennedy's Cabinet and other advisers, it will go a long way toward removing fears that the new administration will try to appease our potential enemy.

Letter To The Editor

Here are some answers to John Hall's letter that was printed in The Review on Jan. 18.

He stated that our roads and streets are in need of repairs. I agree with him 100 per cent. But the people expect the street department to repair them without proper equipment. I should know because I am a welfare worker who has to work out his orders on the streets.

The trucks that we use aren't fit to have on the road. . . . What the city needs are up-to-date machines and trucks to do this kind of work; not the ones they have where you have to freeze yourself to ride in.

Some people in East Liverpool are for the city income tax, but most appear to be against it. And the ones against it are the ones who are doing much of the complaining.

If I was working and earning money like other people, I would be for the tax myself if they would use it for the roads and equipment. I am also in favor of our own asphalt equipment.

What are the people going to do if it becomes necessary to lay off some policemen, firemen and street department employees?

The police cruisers are worn out. When you go to the old fire station generally you will find a cruiser in for repairs.

Getting back to street department equipment. The other day we were hauling Christmas trees, and we had a load on to take in to burn. After we got there, we couldn't raise the hoist to dump the load. So we had to take and unload them by hand. Our truck took the truck to the barn to see if they would fix it. They refused, saying they didn't have time to do it. So the rest of that day, as cold as it was, we had to unload the rest of them by hand. I am not the only one who has to work like this. There are other fellows beside me. . . .

If the people of our city expect the streets to be repaired and other things to be done, they are going to have to wake up and do something or quit their complaining.

I think the police department should try to get small cars for police cruisers instead of the big cars. I think they would be cheaper operating.

And I would like to see the city with some of those big Army trucks, something that could stand punishment.

John Hall also was talking about parking in our town. I would like to see the city have a place like Pittsburgh. Up there they have a big building for parking. If East Liverpool could get some of these big buildings, they would be better off and it might solve some of the problems.

I feel that if the tax is turned down again should another vote come in November, the people will know it.

I have lived here 37 years and I would like to see some changes. The way it is now a lot of people are moving to the suburbs. So I say again it is up to the people whether we have a good city in which to live or not.

Nylon is one of the most important of modern chemical discoveries. Notes for its toughness, strength, and resistance to mildew, oils, greases, ordinary chemicals, and the like, nylon was first made into hosiery in 1938, and since then has been fashioned into dresses, underwear, bathing suits, lace, upholstery, parachutes, and countless other valuable products. The simple, ultimate sources from which nylon is made include coal, water, air, and petroleum.

Cunningham

was dismissed because legal requirements were not met.

He is the second of the seven officers and special officers indicted in the 1956 burglary investigation to enter prison, Dallas Bishop, 43-year-old former special officer, is serving a 1-15 year term for breaking and entering the Smith & Phillips Co. store in 1952.

A tape recording of a conversation between Cunningham and Donald Lockhart, drug store clerk, played a major role in the bribery trial in 1958 in which a Common Pleas Court jury found the ex-officer guilty of attempting to influence Lockhart, called as a juror in a burglary trial of Cunningham and Jerry Raimond, onetime special officer.

Cunningham and Raimond were convicted of the burglary of Burdick Hardware Co., but the appellate court ordered the conviction reversed on grounds the case had not been prosecuted within the statutory period.

The appellate court in 1960 dismissed a 1958 conviction of Louis (Mike) Stutler, former policeman who was found guilty of an entering of the Burdick store in 1954. Fingerprint evidence was a feature of that trial.

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw has filed an appeal in the reversal of the conviction of Cunningham and Raimond, and the Ohio Supreme Court has ordered the case sent back to the appellate court where arguments will be heard March 7.

The jury bribery trial was the tenth related with the original burglary indictments which covered city enterings over a period extending to 1951.

Robert Hanna, first officer to be tried, was acquitted of a burglary at the Smith & Phillips Co. Robert Carroll, another officer tried with Cunningham and Raimond for the hardware entering also was acquitted.

Raimond was convicted in 1956 of receiving stolen goods from the hardware, but the verdict was reversed by the appellate court on grounds the location of the crime had not been proven.

Cunningham's "disappearance" for a week after his appeal of the bribery conviction was dismissed by the Supreme Court was only one of the bizarre incidents which have marked the police case since 1956.

Bishop repudiated a 12-page statement as a prosecution witness in a 1956 burglary trial for Cunningham, Raimond, Stutler and Carroll, bringing a halt to the trials for six months. Cunningham and Raimond were acquitted earlier in 1956 of an entering of the Berman Lumber Co.

Robert McBane, former officer who has pleaded guilty to eight of the nine original indictments, has been a key witness in the majority of the burglary trials and remains free at present.

The 1958 trial of Cunningham, Raimond and Carroll was delayed for two and half days when

A burglary trial for Bishop was halted when a defense attorney placed his arm around a woman juror on the Courthouse steps, resulting in a mistrial.

Seven of the original indictments remain on the court dockets, including a retrial for Cunningham and Carroll for entering the Smith & Phillips Co. The first trial ended in a hung jury.

Council Waits Report On Bid Cut At Stratton

Stratton Council expects notification by Friday of progress made between consulting engineers of the Jefferson County village and two contractors whose bids are being considered for installation of new water and sewer systems.

The firm of Ballard & Mayfield of Canton, consulting engineers for Stratton, is conferring with the A. P. O'Horo Co. of Youngstown and Hatcher Brothers Construction Co. of Mingo in an attempt to shave construction costs by eliminating certain features of the systems.

The O'Horo firm bid of $333,760.30, while Hatcher Brothers Co. asked $338,246. Both bids are well above the total cost Council expected for construction of water and sewer systems in the Ohio River area village.

Mayor Michael Misconish said notice is expected by Friday of any progress between the consulting engineers and the two construction firms.

The 2 firms did not submit the lowest bids but the low bid of $327,038 offered by the Erskine Construction & Mining Co. was ruled invalid by Council.

The Erskine bid was disqualified because the company did not submit with its bid a certified check equal to 10 per cent of the amount, according to the specifications of the contract for bidding.

If Council is notified by Friday of any progress, a special meeting will be called to consider awarding of bids. Council is scheduled for a regular meeting Tuesday night at 7.

Collections still are incomplete from the Calcutta, Horace Mann and 3rd St. districts.

EAST PALESTINE — Some 66 Parent-Teacher Organization volunteers collected $637 in a "Mothers March" Monday night, Robert Johnston, city chairman, announced.

Salineville's March Will Be Held Friday

SALINEVILLE — The house-to-house solicitation for the March of Dimes will be held Friday night, Mrs. Charles Mundy, chairman of the "Mothers March" reminded residents.

The canvass is being held later to enable State Rep. Warren Bettis, general chairman of the drive, to be present. He is currently at Columbus.

Mothers In Industry Collect $190 In Drive

About $190 was collected by 20 mothers in the March of Dimes campaign held in Industry Borough Tuesday.

Volunteers included members of the Ohio View Women's Club and the Industry Borough Women's Club. Mrs. Edward Ingfield, public service chairman of the Ohio View club, was chairman for the drive.

Delegate Asks Constituents' Views On Tax

A number of Hancock County residents have received letters from Miss Callie Tsapis, member of the House of Delegates, asking for views on Gov. W. W. Barron's personal income tax bill.

The bill, tailored to impose a state tax amounting to 6 per cent of the federal income tax paid by each taxpayer, was introduced in the West Virginia Legislature Tuesday in Charleston.

Miss Tsapis, in the letter, also asked for personal views on other major items Gov. Barron recommended for the state in the coming year.

Gov. Barron has recommended the personal income tax, readjusting and raising of the rates in business and occupation tax, and raising of the transportation privilege tax.

Other recommendations include the sum of $3 million for industrial development to be used as 30 per cent loans to new industries; $1½ million for teachers' salaries; $2 million for colleges, and $500,000 for vocational retraining for unemployed citizens of West Virginia.

"Because this program contains so many unusual items and new taxes, I am interested in hearing your views on it," Miss Tsapis said in her letter. "Please write me at your earliest convenience."

fort to prevent a similar loss of eligibility.

Atty. Tobin said the five have been directed to continue to report for work until otherwise notified by their counsel.

Commissioner Hunston said this morning, "We have hired the new employees, and expect them to do the work, having received the opinion on the Civil Service question from the prosecutor."

Commissioner Greenstein commented, "As far as I know, the commissioners don't plan any action regarding the development. The next move is up to the discharged employees. We have replaced them." The Democratic commissioner, Frank Wilson, has been feuding with the Republican majority since the firings.

the finance groups moves to report it to the floor. This is not likely to happen before next week.

For the vast majority of West Virginia taxpayers, the state income tax would be 6 per cent of their federal income tax payment. Barron proposed the tax to bring in $15 million in new annual revenue for his program for economic development, roads, schools and other state improvements.

Chester Canvass Collects $370 Total

The Chester Kiwanis Club and Key Club members collected some $370 in a canvass of the city Tuesday night for the March of Dimes drive, Alvin Fineman, chairman of the drive, reported this morning.

Deaths and Funerals

Alva Douden Gall of Pine Grove Rd., Hammondsville, a retired farmer, died Tuesday afternoon at the Belmont County Sanatorium at St. Clairsville, where he had been a patient since Sept. 11, 1959. He was 84.

Mr. Gall was born in Barbour County, W. Va., Nov. 5, 1876, son of John Gall and Betty Carpenter Gall. He resided in the Hammondsville area for 46 years. Besides operating a farm, he was employed at one time at the Irondale Works of the McLain Fire Brick Co. and later at the Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. in East Liverpool before retiring in 1943. His wife, Mrs. Edith Ingram Gall, died May 26, 1952.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Malloy of Los Angeles and Mrs. Martha Matyas of St. Clair Shores, Mich.; three sons, Harold Gall of Warren, John Gall of Rochester, and Ronald Gall of Colton, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Dessie Row of Junior, W. Va., and Mrs. Audra Lambert of Belington, W. Va.; five brothers, William Gall and Marvin Gall, both of Belington, Orion Gall of Moundsville, Dewey Gall of Morgantown and Hugh Gall of Lewisburg, W. Va., and nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsburg by the Rev. John C. Millhorn. Burial will be in Hammondsville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p. m. Thursday.

William Golding

Services for William F. Golding, 329 Penn Ave., Midland will be held Friday at 1 p. m. at the Midland First Baptist Church by the Rev. J. M. Marbre. Burial will be in Beaver Cemetery.

He died Monday morning at the Rochester General Hospital after a two-year illness.

Friends may call at the Leavell Funeral Home in Midland after 7 tonight. John W. Taylor of the Taylor Funeral Home of Erie is in charge.

Mrs. Roy Reed

EAST PALESTINE — Mrs. Adeline Reed, 190 W. Clark St., died this morning at 2 at her home following a long illness. She was 70. Born at LaPointe, Wis., April 30, 1890, she was a daughter of Daniel R. and Annabelle Fay Angus. She was married in 1921 to Roy Reed of East Palestine.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Mildred Rambo, Mrs. Lenore Nightingale, Mrs. Ruth Humphrey and Mrs. Dorothy Goryews, all of East Palestine, and Mrs. Ellen May of Salem; three sons, Raymond Mansell of East Palestine, Frank A. Mansell of Estro, Fla., and Earl Mansell of Killeen, Tex., and 18 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home by the Rev. Thomas Hammerton. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call Thursday at the funeral home.

4. Ham himself is reported in excellent shape, a smart 37 pounds of amiability.

Plucked from the sea by a helicopter from the USS Donner, he shook hands with the veterinarian greeting him when his one-ton space capsule was unlocked three hours after launching.

After a medical checkup, Ham drew a bonus of a banana and a bit more apple on top of his scientifically prescribed menu.

His flight was one of graduated steps in a National Aeronautics and Space Administration program hopefully intended to put an American astronaut into several round trips about the earth in 1961.

In a big first step, Ham twice felt the crushing weight of increased gravity. Taking off, he weighed seven times more than on earth.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

What Size Will You Wear Come Spring?

"I hate to dress up and go out, nothing fits anymore. I'll be 40 on my next birthday...and, oh, I don't want to settle for a fat 40!" If that plaintive note from a reader strikes home, join us.

Spring is just seven weeks away. Whip into action now and you can wear a dress a size smaller by Ida Jean Kain March 21. It helps wonderfully to have a definite goal. Get a fixed idea in your mind that your new Easter outfit can be a size smaller and your will becomes subservient to that goal. Channel your thoughts in the slimming direction and picture yourself slipping into the smaller size.

In the medium range, there are 14 to 16 pounds between dress sizes. Of course, the number of pounds to your next smaller dress size depends on whether or not you are crowding the seams on your present size. Between now and spring you can slim down 14 to 16 pounds.

YOU DON'T believe it? Well, I challenge you to try to prove me wrong! The following note from a former skeptical gal may be just the spur you need. The letter was dated, April 1...

"No April fooling...I made it! On the first day of February you wrote in a column that one could lose 15 pounds by the first day of spring. Frankly I didn't believe you. I decided to cut my calories down to 1,100 a day...more or less to prove you wrong! I'm delighted to report that I have reduced from 170 to 155 pounds. I feel better and I look better. Yesterday I bought a size 18 and it is not tight. Now I know I can get down to 140 pounds and a size 16...my right size. Many thanks, IJK."

Interested? Here are the calorie facts: One pound of body fat has a fuel value of 3,500 calories. Your rate of weight loss is set by your calorie deficit; that is, by the difference between the calories you burn and the grand total in the food eaten.

For office workers and push-button housewives, calorie requirements have been estimated at 2,000 a day. An easy way to figure your calorie requirements is to allow 29 calories per inch of height. This applies to women who are normally active.

If you burn 2,000 or 2,100 calories per day and you cut down to 1,000 or 1,100 calories a day, you will call on stored fat for 1,000 calories daily. In one week, you will burn 7,000 stored calories, which equals two pounds a week weight loss. In seven weeks, you will be 14 pounds lighter.

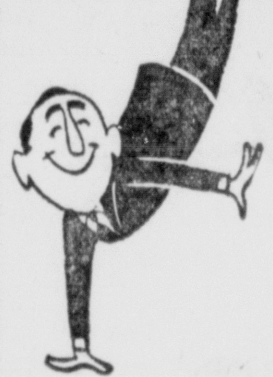

YOU MAY OR may not lose exactly on the two pound a week schedule, but in seven weeks, you can be 14 pounds lighter.

It's a fascinating fact that you can, through calorie adjustment, figure the approximate date at which you may expect to reach your normal weight.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

The oldest musical wind instrument is generally conceded to be the fife. The oldest string instrument is the lyre, or harp. And the oldest percussion instrument is the drum.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove a stain from my bathrobe?

A. If light, they can often be removed by rubbing with a lemon. For stubborn stains, use a five per cent solution of oxalic acid or a 10 per cent solution of hydrochloric acid. (NOTE: Both of these are poisons!) It is a good idea to wear rubber gloves when using these acids. After applying with cloth or paper toweling, rub thoroughly after a few seconds. Acids, if permitted to remain, damage porcelain and enamel.

Q. What can I do when the base of a broken light bulb proves difficult to remove from the socket?

A. You can solve this problem easily by forcing a large cork into the protruding broken edge of glass and wire, and then twisting.

Q. How can I make a light plaster mixture?

A. If you'll make a point of adding the water to the plaster, your final mixture will be free of lumps.

Mr., Mrs. Ronald Albanese Residing In Pensacola, Fla.

Following a honeymoon to Atlantic City and Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Albanese are residing in Pensacola, Fla. where they will be for the duration of the groom's stay in the Navy. He is an aviation electrician third class.

They were married Jan. 14 at 10 o'clock in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Wellsville. Fr. John Lyons officiated and the organist was Mrs. James Reilly.

The bride, the former Miss Joan Dash, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dash, 408 15th St. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Albanese, 1629 Clark Ave., both of Wellsville.

The bride was dressed in white brocade with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. The bodice featured a scooped neckline detailed by pearls and iridescent with long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt, which swept into a chapel train, featured puffs at the side and back and was accented by small bows on the side. She wore a Swedish crown of crystals with a fingertip veil of silk illusion and carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and white roses.

The bridesmaids were Misses Carole Ross, Carol Jean D'Orin, Jeris Ann Murray, Mary Ann Albanese, Patty Guido and Judy Murfitt. They wore moss green dresses with headpieces to match and carried cascade bouquets of shrimp color talisman roses. Miss Paula Ross was the maid-of-honor and wore the same type of dress as the bridesmaids.

Junior bridesmaid was Cynthia Grande. Pat Albanese served as his brother's best man. Ushers were John Venesile, Willis Murray, Andy Dash, Pat DeRosa, John DeSantis and Joe Commarata.

The bride's mother was dressed in purple in matching accessories and wore a white orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore royal blue brocade and a white orchid.

Dinner for 100 guests was served at the Travelers Hotel in East Liverpool and a reception was held at the bride's home.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a beige dress and coat with accessories to match. The bride is a 1958 graduate of graduated from Carnegie Institute of Technology at Cleveland. She was employed at City Hospital prior to her marriage. Her husband was graduated from Wellsville High School and attended Akron University before enlisting in the Navy.

Out-of-town guests were from Akron, Leetonia, Cleveland, Toledo, Lyons and Wooster.

Anna M. Monroe Becomes Bride Of Thomas C. Ogden

Miss Anna Mae Monroe observed the traditions when she became the bride of Thomas C. Ogden Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Glendale Church of the Nazarene near Newell.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Monroe of New Cumberland R. D. 2, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Ogden, 410-A Jefferson St., Newell.

Mrs. Gladys Wood, church organist, presented a quarter-hour of nuptial music. The Rev. Wilbur Beaver, pastor, officiated for the double-ring, open-church ceremony before an altar decorated with palms.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length gown of white chiffon and satin, featuring a nylon lace jacket designed with scalloped edges and three-quarter-length sleeves.

The fitted bodice was fashioned with tiny shoulder straps and the bouffant skirt was highlighted with a cummerbund. She borrowed a shoulder-length veil of silk illusion from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kathryn Buck, of East Liverpool. It was held in place by a half-hat of lace, trimmed with pearls and sequins.

She wore lace mitts and a pearl necklace and matching earrings. She carried a white, engraved Bible, the gift of the bridegroom. It was topped with an arrangement of white rosebuds with matching streamers tied in lovers' knots.

Mrs. Barbara Stoneburner was matron of honor and wore a street-length dress of electric blue nylon lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a mandarin collar and three-quarter-length sleeves. A lace belt highlighted the bouffant skirt.

She wore a band of white flowers for a headpiece and completed her attire with lace mitts. Her silver earrings were the gift of the bride. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white carnations, sprayed with blue and tied with white nylon streamers.

Robert Stoneburner was best man. Ushers were Homer Buck and William Buck, step-brothers of the bride. They received cuff links from the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a gray silk dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a dark gray ensemble. Black and white accessories and pink carnation corsages complemented their attire.

A reception for 50 was held at the home of the bride's parents. A two-tier cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the buffet table.

Aides were Mrs. Iris Linger, sister of the bride, Mrs. Eleanor Mon-

Out-of-town guests were from Beaver, Pughtown, Chester and East Liverpool.

For her honeymoon, the bride wore a gray suit with black accessories and her bridal corsage. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside at 410-A Jefferson St., Newell.

They are 1960 graduates of Wells High School. The bride is employed at the L. & B. Donut Shop and her husband works for the West Virginia State Road Commission.

Flight To Cleveland

Due For 4 Patients

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three patients in iron lungs and one in a chest respirator will be flown here Thursday from Baltimore by the First Aero-Medical Transport Group—the largest such transfer ever attempted.

The patients are being brought to Cleveland Metropolitan General Hospital, where there are facilities for their treatment not available at Baltimore, a spokesman for the transport group said.

District Catholics Will Mark Feast Days Thursday, Friday

The Feast of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary, also known as Candlemas Day, will be commemorated Thursday by Catholics of the area and the Feast of St. Blaise will be observed Friday.

Following Masses Thursday, the priests will bless the candles, which can be obtained by the parishioners after the Masses.

During the Feast of St. Blaise, intercession against diseases of the throat is invoked.

St. Blaise, a bishop and martyr, devoted his early years to philosophy and later became a physician. Ordained to the priesthood and named bishop of Sebaste in Armenia, he was seized and sent to prison by the governor Agrippa.

On his way to prison, a distraught mother whose child was suffering from a throat disease beseeched him for aid. At his intercession, the child was cured instantly. Since then his aid has been solicited in similar cases. After being tortured, he was beheaded in 316.

On Friday, the Feast of St. Blaise will mark the blessing of throats in the morning and evening.

At St. Aloysius Church, candles will be blessed Thursday prior to the 8 a. m. Mass and will be distributed after the Mass and also on Sunday.

Throats on Friday will be blessed at the 7 and 8 a. m. Masses and also at 4 p. m. and 5, and 7:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Fr. Carl Nicolay is pastor and Fr. Anthony Esposito assistant.

At St. Ann Church, the candles will be blessed Thursday after the 7:30 a. m. Mass and parishioners may obtain them after the Mass.

Friday, the parishioners will have their throats blessed after the 7:30 a. m. Mass and also at 7:30 p. m.

Fr. Lambert Andrews is pastor. Candles will be blessed Thursday morning at the 7:15 High Mass at the Chester Sacred Heart Church and distributed after the Mass.

Throats will be blessed Friday after the 6 p. m. Mass.

Fr. Eugene Jacobs is pastor. At the Wellsville Immaculate Conception Church, candles will be blessed preceding the 8 a. m. Mass Thursday and distributed at the conclusion of the Mass.

The blessing of the throats will be observed Friday after the 8 a. m. Mass and at 4 and 7:30 p. m.

Fr. John Lyons is pastor.

Midland Girl Winner

In Homemaker Contest

Miss Rina Sigal, Midland Lincoln High School senior, has been named the school's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, Principal William A. Walters, said.

The school was notified that Miss Sigal received the highest rating in the school in a test sponsored Dec. 6 by General Mills, Inc., on homemaking knowledge and attitudes. A pin will be presented her during Awards Day at the end of the school term.

She is automatically entered for the state contest.

Miss Sigal, 17, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Zavel Sigal, 850 Beaver Ave., Midland. She is past worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow Girls, a member of the Hi-Spot Youth Center queen's court, the National Honor Society and the high school marching band and concert band.

The school has received its Bausch & Lomb science award, which will be given on Awards Day and whose winner will not be known until about six weeks before the end of the term.

Indicted For Murder

Kitchen trick: a little lemon along with melted butter and minced parsley, does a lot for boiled potatoes.

Build On Existing Farm Programs, Kennedy Advised

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats and Republicans who steered farm legislation in Congress in recent years had this advice today for the Kennedy administration: Build on existing farm programs.

The legislators saw little chance in Congress for any drastic farm proposals.

The advice comes before the new administration gets down to drafting the farm proposals President Kennedy will submit to Congress within the next two weeks.

A three-member task force committee on "the key elements of the agricultural situation" handed the new administration its farm program recommendations Tuesday. They came closer, in some respects, to meeting promises of the Republicans rather than of the Democrats in the 1960 campaign.

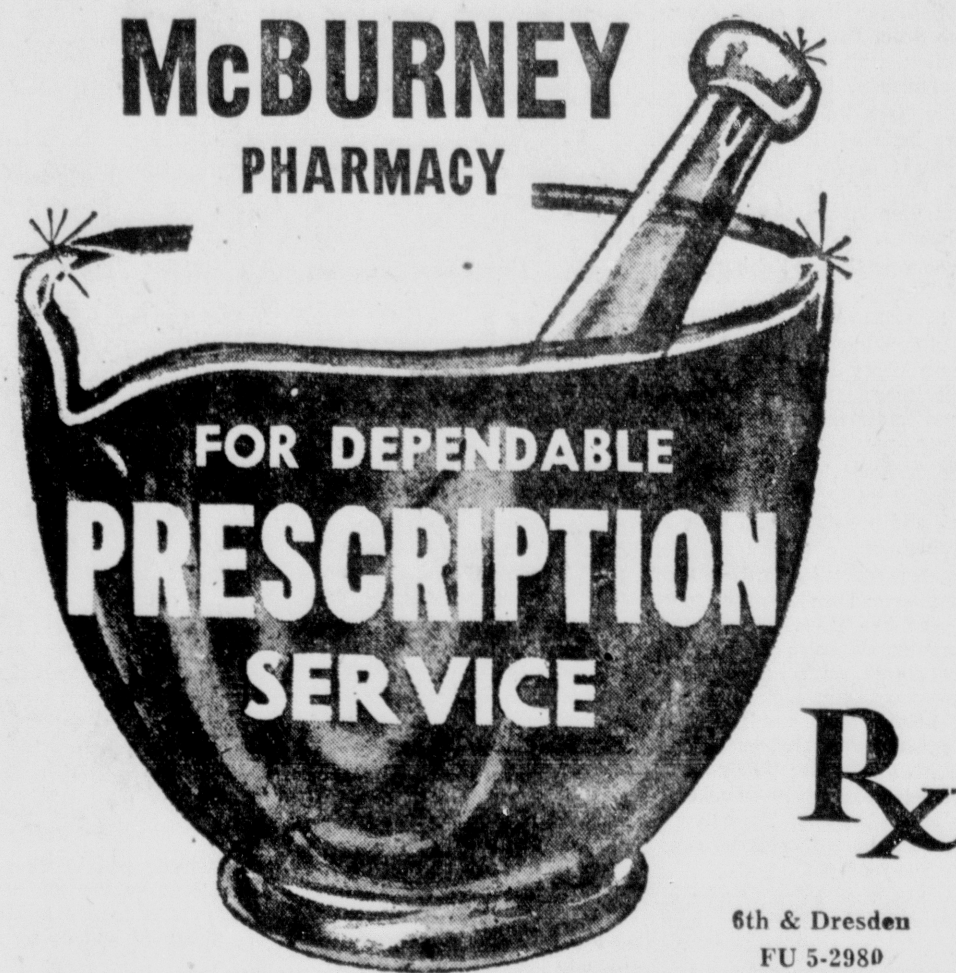

The committee opposed increases in price supports for major commodities and expressed the view that farmers would be unlikely to support rigid farm production control measures.

Kennedy's campaign farm program and the Democratic platform favored higher price supports and measures to control farm production and to halt surplus output.

Woman Breaks Leg

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police, called by a worried neighbor, Tuesday night found Mrs. Isabel Boden, 66, injured in a cellar coal bin where she had been lying for 33 hours. Mrs. Boden said she fell near noon Monday and broke her leg which was wedged between two steps. She was in fair condition at St. Mary Hospital.

Hancock Invited To Join Caravan To Legislature

Residents of Hancock County have been asked to join in a caravan to Charleston Thursday as part of a movement to allow West Virginians to vote on the liquor-by-the-drink issue.

The Wheeling Junior Chamber of Commerce will lead the auto caravan of Northern Panhandle residents at 9:30 from Wheeling.

The temperance committees of the State Senate and House of Delegates will hold hearings Thursday on the liquor question.

One proposal would let the 1962 general election voters decide whether the prohibition against sale of liquor for consumption in public should be stricken from the State Constitution. The legislature would in turn set up rules for such sales.

The other resolution before the lawmakers would provide for the appointment of a commission to study the liquor problem and report back to the 1963 legislature.

The Senate committee hearing will be held Thursday afternoon. The House committee session is set for 7:30 p. m.

James E. Garrison, chairman of the chamber's Right-To-Vote Committee, said "This legislation is important to Wheeling and the entire state. We are confident a majority of our citizens think so."

Auto Skids Into Pole

TORONTO — Pauline Rozak, 25, of Stratton escaped injury when her car skidded off Route 7 and struck a power pole about a mile north of here Tuesday at 5:15 p. m. Only slight damage resulted to the car, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

School Sites Report Waited

A citizens advisory committee from Southern Local Parent-Teacher Association units will meet tonight at 8 at Highlandtown School to hear recommendations for sites for a proposed new high school for the district.

Dr. Sam Hicks, head of an Ohio University survey team which is studying the district, and Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, were to visit a number of sites this afternoon preparatory to offering recommendations tonight.

J. B. Ferguson, president of the Board of Education, will be in charge and board members will attend.

Voters of the district are to decide in the May 2 primary election a proposed $356,000 bond issue toward the new high school. A state grant of $404,000 has been tentatively assigned the district on a priority basis for the project.

County Group To Hear Ohio School Board Aide

LISBON — Dr. Lewis E. Harris, executive secretary of the Ohio School Boards Association, will be the guest speaker for Columbiana County's first all-county school boards meeting Thursday at McKinley School at 7:30 p. m.

All city, exempted and county school Boards of Education have been invited.

The meeting, the first of this type, was arranged by the Columbiana County chief school officers, a new organization of all school superintendents. James L. McBride, superintendent of the county schools and chairman, will preside. State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon and Rep. J. Warren Betts of Salineville are expected to attend and state legislation will be discussed.

Horace Greeley was born in the New Hampshire village of Amherst, which is located on Beaver Brook. The Indians called it Quohquinnapassakessanahog.

Barron Appoints Heads Of DPA, Mental Health

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Gov. Barron reached into state government ranks to find new heads for the departments of Mental Health and Public Assistance.

He elevated Weston Hospital Supt. Charles A. Zeller to the $20,000-a-year directorship of the Mental Health Department, succeeding Dr. R. P. Hagerman who resigned.

He picked W. Bernard Smith, of Logan, an assistant attorney general for the past four years, to succeed Thomas R. Egbert of Charleston as DPA director. Egbert will stay on as a consultant.

Barron also announced yesterday the appointments of James A. (Mike) Willinger of Elkins, and William P. C. Perry of Charles Town as two new members of the three-man State Racing Commission. They succeed Malcolm J. Lowe of Parkersburg, and L. H. McCamie of Wellsburg.

All four appointments were effective immediately.

Recruiters Due At Midland School

Representatives of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps will speak to Midland High School senior boys Thursday at 1:15 p. m., William A. Walters, principal, said.

A musical film, presented by C. L. Deffenbaugh, music supervisor, was shown junior high students during a half period this afternoon.

Miss Marjorie Lovejoy, teacher, will attend an all-day meeting of the Tri-State Area School Study Council Friday at Pittsburgh. Also Friday, all students will attend an assembly at 1 p. m. when the Blue Jay Singers, an outstanding Negro male quartet, will perform.

Afterwards, boys of the 9th, 10th and 11th grades will see a 10-minute film on woodworking.

Next Monday, the Beaver County Principals Association will meet at 6 p. m. at Beaver High School. Walters, president, will preside. A representative of DeVry Tech will speak to senior boys next Wednesday.

Kiwanis At Wellsville Gets Division Banner

The division lieutenant-governor's banner was presented to the Wellsville Kiwanis Club at its dinner meeting Tuesday night at Pitt's Tea Room.

A delegation from the Lisbon Kiwanis, which held the banner last year, made the presentation. Atty. William Bush of Wellsville is the new lieutenant-governor for the district.

A delegation from the East Liverpool club also attended. About 35 were present. Charles Wilfing, president, presided.

Angelo Georgetti, manager of the Georgetti River-Rail Terminal, Inc., at 16th St., Wellsville, was to have been guest speaker but was called out of town late yesterday on business. Richard Grills was program chairman.

PTA To Give Supper

SALINEVILLE — A public chicken supper will be sponsored Feb. 14 at the high school cafeteria by the Parent-Teacher Association to raise money for new drapes for the auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door or from members. Howard Adams, chairman, said.

The Biblical talent, in terms of present-day money, was worth about $6,000.

Tri-State Post Offices Register 484 Aliens

Annual January registration of aliens concluded Tuesday with 484 reporting at Post Offices in East Liverpool, Wellsville and Midland.

Postmaster Angelo Cellini said 311 registered at Midland, about the same as last year; Postmaster Sam Brown recorded 125 in East Liverpool, down by 15, and Postmaster Elmer Evans said Wellsville signed 48, also fewer than last year.

Brown and Evans said aliens are taking out naturalization papers each year, accounting for the decrease.

Work On Dog Pound Continues In Hancock

Work is continuing on construction of Hancock County's new dog pound in the Pughtown area.

Robert E. Finley, Chester contractor, reported blocks were being laid today. The $6,220 cement block pound will be completed in another week or two.

Two new dog wardens appointed by County Court already have rounded up between 50 and 60 stray dogs. The animals are being kept temporarily in a barn of John Coleman, one of the new wardens.

Historical Group To Show Antiques

SALINEVILLE — Plans to sponsor an antique show were outlined at a meeting of the Salineville Area Historical Society Tuesday night at the high school.

Displays of antiques would be set up and dealers asked to participate in the show under present plans. A date is to be selected.

Plans were also made for various tours in the summer to such sites as Gnadenhuetten. A membership drive was discussed and each present member is to bring another person to the next meeting.

Mrs. Margaret McNichol agreed to check cemetery records in an effort to learn the identity of a soldier in an unmarked grave at Woodland Cemetery.

About 25 attended the meeting at which Robert Cole, president, was in charge. A special meeting is planned for later this month or early in March for a Civil War program.

New Agency, Food For Peace

Latin America Gets Fast Attention From Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Latin America, an area of deep concern in President Kennedy's State of the Union message, is getting immediate attention from the new administration.

For example:

1. A new, high-level agency, headed by Adolf A. Berle Jr., a
2. A food for peace mission to south of the border may be named early next week and may go on tour before the end of the month.
3. Two days ago, Kennedy in his message to Congress lamented Cuba's Communist leanings. He said broad action was needed to aid all Latin American nations.

Late Tuesday, Berle's task force was announced. He has been at work at the State Department for several days.

The task force, according to an informed source, will have the broadest powers ever given any agency for dealing with Latin American affairs.

Indications are the force will deal with economic aid and financial assistance, cultural and social matters, and apparently will have charge of U.S. activity in the Organization of American States.

On the interdepartmental force with Berle will be: Theodore Achilles, counselor of the State Department; Thomas Mann, assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs; William Bundy, deputy assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs, and Lincoln Gordon, an economics professor at Harvard University.

One Of Famous Dionne Quints Enters Convent

BAIE ST. PAUL, Que. (AP) — Yvonne Dionne, one of the quintuplets, has begun a two-year novitiate at the convent of the Little Franciscan Sisters in this town 55 miles northeast of Quebec.

Yvonne announced last week she planned to become a nun but said later her entrance into the convent would be postponed a few days until publicity died down. The superior of the convent said Tuesday night she arrived last Thursday.

"She seems very happy," the superior said. "She appears to adapt herself quickly to our way of life."

Yvonne is 26 and has been trained as a nurse. Her sister Emilie was a postulant at the time of her death in 1954. Another of the quintuplets, Marie, entered and left a convent twice without taking final vows. She and the other two quints are now married and Marie has a baby girl.

Midland Commission Elects

Dr. Zanvel Sigal Returned As Head Of Planning Unit

Dr. Zanvel Sigal was re-elected chairman of the Midland Planning Commission during its annual reorganization meeting Tuesday evening in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

Elected to new terms were Emery Davis, vice chairman, succeeding Lloyd Murphy, and Crum Dimeff, secretary, succeeding Anthony Martell.

Davis served as temporary chairman. R. E. Steebner, borough engineer, was retained as engineer along with Masters & Suffoletta as solicitors.

The commission decided to attend Borough Council's meeting Feb. 9 and present the completed borough comprehensive plan.

The commission will also write or present a letter to Council, recommending the hiring of Morris Knowles, Inc., engineers for the plan, to act as consulting engineers for the first three phases. The recommendation also suggests that money for hiring the engineers be included in the 1961 budget, if feasible, or in that for 1962.

Cost of the engineering services for the 3 phases recommended for 1961 would amount to $7,000 if obtained for each separate phase or $5,000 if all 3 phases are activated at one time. Phase I would cost

$3,000, Phase II $1,500 and Phase III $2,500 if obtained separately. Additional copies of the plan have arrived, bringing the total to about 50. Some 25 remain to be distributed.

Members decided to send a total of 15 copies to the Carnegie Library for public use, to the Crucible Steel Co., Beaver County commissioners, Beaver County Planning Commission, the Beaver County Industrial Redevelopment Commission, the Midland Board of Education, the Mackintosh-Hemp Hill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co. and the Pennsylvania Economy League.

Other copies have already been distributed to the borough secretary's office for public use and records, Borough Council, borough officers and newspapers.

The commission adopted the plan at its meeting Jan. 4.

Kennedy's Act On Bases May Stir Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's order for a survey looking to "elimination of obsolete bases" of the armed forces can stir up hornet nests both at home and abroad.

The President's brief reference to the matter was in his State of the Union message. He did not differentiate between domestic and overseas bases, apparently leaving that to the Defense Department.

Even though new weapons or strategy may dictate the closing of bases, local communities which have received economic support from operation of the bases are hard to convince. They also have spokesmen in Congress.

Overseas, opinion can be divided. Some may look upon an American missile or air base as defense for the area. Others may — and often do — contend that bases may attract enemy rockets or bombers. And, as in the United States, there also is the matter of additional income for the community.

Actually, the process of trimming down the big network of Air Force, Navy and Army bases was under way before Kennedy ordered it included in the broad study.

During a six-month period ending last December, 30 major active bases were made standby or caretaker bases, reducing a June total of 772.

The rate of deactivation had been stepped up. In June, 1958, there were 840 bases at home and overseas. A year later there were 799.

New Service Station Slated

A new service station will be erected at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. to replace another on W. 8th St. that will be razed to clear the way for the California Hollow-West End Freeway, it was shown today in building permits issued in January by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet's office.

A. C. Gloeckner, operator of the West End station, and the Atlantic Refining Co. obtained the permit to build the new one-story concrete block building at an estimated cost of $6,480.

Gloeckner now operates an Atlantic station on W. 8th St. near Chestnut St., close to the point where an elevated ramp will carry the new freeway over the present East Liverpool-Wellsville "super-road."

In addition, Roscoe Wilson obtained a permit last month to remodel the E. 6th St. side of the Rand Drugstore at an estimated cost of $1,700.

The two January permits total $3,180, up $700 from the $7,480 shown in December.

Georgetown Driver Plunges Over Hillside

A Georgetown driver's car received an estimated $95 damage when he slid on ice and plunged over an embankment Tuesday, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported today.

Deputies said David Rosak, 20, crashed at 9:55 p. m. on State 2 south of New Cumberland.

In another mishap at 1:45 p. m. Tuesday on Washington St. in Newell, a 1956 model sedan of Lester Bragg, 33, of Box 461, Newell, crashed into the rear of a 1952 model truck driven by Arnold Stewart, 32, of Industry R. D. 1.

Deputies listed $52 damage to Bragg's car.

Ready-To-Serve Foods Have 'Focus On Health'

By The Associated Press
Ready-to-serve foods, and left-overs, hot and cold workers, school lunches and eyesight all have a focus on health: To the Ice Box

It's best to pop your left-overs into the refrigerator as soon as possible, hot or not, researchers report. Notions that the food should cool first are false.

The idea probably came from days when ice was used to cool the ice box and hot foods raised the temperature of the box and melted the ice.

But new studies show that disease-producing bacteria can grow in food from 42 degrees to 114 degrees Fahrenheit. Cooking above 116 degrees kills the germs, and cooling to 42 degrees inhibits germ growth. Keeping foods, including pre-cooked, ready-to-serve types and vending machine foods, in the growth temperatures should be avoided.

School Lunch
How important is an adequate diet? A school lunch program offered by U.S. researchers in the highlands of Peru offers a clue.

After several years of adding up to 1,000 calories a day and needed vitamins to the almost completely vegetarian diet, researchers report weight gains double what they were at the beginning of the study.

Hot or Cold
If you are a long-time Southerner, you'll get used to hot spells quicker—and you'll sweat less and stay cooler in hot weather than a visiting Northerner.

Scientists found this difference with young college students from New England and Southern Florida. Life in the Southern climate seems to equip Southerners with better heat-regulating mechanisms.

When the armed services pick men for duty in hot areas, they might consider the individual's geographical origin as well as his physical fitness, scientists suggested.

Eye and Mind
Three-quarters of eye disorder cases involve some emotional conflict—often resulting in an abnormal, unrealistic sort of eye self-consciousness. This can lead to further, sometimes disabling symptoms, British doctors report.

A weird deep-sea creature with no mouth, digestive system or means of breathing is known as the pogonophore.

SMILIN' THROUGH. After a visit to Hamburg, West Germany, tiny Charlotte Stein was glad to get back home. She and her mother had visited relatives in the old country. Charlotte is waiting as her mother goes through Customs in Manhattan.

Firemen To Hold Aid Conference

Plans for a meeting of Columbiana County firemen with municipal officers throughout the county on a proposed mutual aid program were made at a meeting of the Executive Board of the organization Tuesday night at East Palestine.

The firemen will meet with mayors, safety - service directors and city solicitors from throughout the county Feb. 15 at Leetonia High School to outline the proposal.

Plans were also made for an all-day arson investigation school to be held in East Liverpool in September, and for a fire training school to be held at Wellsville on two weekends also in September. Dates will be selected later.

About eight attended last night's session at which Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville, president, was in charge. Any county fireman may attend the meetings of the group, Alfred VanDyne, secretary, said.

Traffic Manslaughter Charges Face 2 Drivers

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Traffic manslaughter charges were filed Tuesday against two Trumbull County drivers involved in the city's two traffic fatalities this year.

Donald L. Lenhart, 23, was charged in connection with the death Jan. 22 of Michael Maggiano, 76, of Warren, in a two-car crash. William G. Frederick, 18, of Leavittsburg, was charged as the driver of a car which collided with one in which Mrs. Arvilla Manson, of Warren, a passenger, was killed.

Hancock Probation Officer's Firing Confirmed By Judge

William E. Paolisso, Hancock County probation and juvenile officer, was officially dismissed from his $3,600 yearly position Tuesday by Circuit Judge Ralph Pryor at New Cumberland. He had been given "an opportunity" to resign in December.

Given no specific reason for his dismissal, the 32-year-old Weirton resident blamed county political factions.

However, his firing carried the approval of County Court, comprised of three Democratic commissioners.

Paolisso, a well-known basketball official in the Tri-State Area, was appointed to the probation officer's post four years ago by Judge J. Harold Brennan with approval of County Court.

The probation post then was considered non-partisan due to the fact that West Virginia judges were not required to campaign for office. Later, a state ruling required all judges to campaign for election along with all other office seekers.

Paolisso was the first county probation officer and county commissioners created the post with the power to appropriate Paolisso's salary. Thus, they apparently retained the power to dismiss him with reasonable notice of intention.

In December, as Judge Pryor was preparing to assume duties as judge in the 1st Circuit Court, Paolisso received the letter offering him the opportunity to resign.

Paolisso also claimed that he was not recommended for reappointment in January by William C. Graham of Chester, president of county commissioners, new sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny or new prosecuting attorney Floyd R. Tarr.

Duties of the county probation officer will be turned over to Deputy Ed Frankovich of the sheriff's office until July, when a new appointee probably will be designated by county commissioners.

Hearing Slated In Pleas Court On Drugging Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — The conviction of Mrs. Lillian Fratanio for drugging her "sleeping beauty" daughters has been carried to the 8th District Court of Appeals.

The appellate court docketed the case Tuesday for hearing. Mrs. Fratanio will remain free on $2,500 bond while her attorneys prepare the appeal from her Juvenile Court conviction.

Juvenile Judge Albert A. Woldman last week sentenced the 29-year-old mother of five to a year in the workhouse and fined her $500 and costs—the maximum penalty for mistreating children. Mrs. Fratanio, who was convicted Dec. 6 by a Juvenile Court jury, won a stay of execution of her sentence pending a hearing on the appeal.

Until her appeal is disposed of, there will be no ruling on custody of the two little girls whose prolonged comas mystified doctors for nearly a year. The girls, Bernadette, 3, and Venia, 6, are temporarily at a Catholic Charities home.

Suit Asks $100,000

LISBON — A suit for $100,000 was filed Tuesday in Common Pleas Court by Mrs. Jennie Neff in behalf of her son, Wilson Baker, both of Leetonia, against Mervin J. Vonada of Howard, Pa., claiming Baker suffered personal injuries in a traffic crash involving a car of the defendant Jan. 13 on Route 62 west of Salem. Baker was riding in a car driven by Donald Moore, the petition says.

Man Suffers Burns

CINCINNATI (AP) — Everett Briery, 32, chemical operator (or Hilton-Davis Chemical Corp., was in critical condition at Bethesda Hospital with burns over most of his body after a chemical blast at the plant Tuesday night. Police said the blast came as Briery was transferring a chemical called kitone, a benzene product, from one container to another.

Kaycees Arrange Joint Initiation

Plans were completed for the joint first degree initiation of Carroll Council, 509 Knights of Columbus, and the Wellsville Council 507, at a meeting of the Carroll Council Tuesday night in the K. of C. Hall. The event will be held Feb. 14 at 8 p. m. in the East-Liverpool home.

A talk on "The Beatification of Pope Pious XII" was given by Fr. Anthony Esposito, an assistant of St. Aloysius Church and chaplain of the council.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night, followed by a meeting of the Carroll Club.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who is more childish than his children? Have you ever heard of the father of two boys consistently racing them for the bathroom so he can get first crack at the hot water?

I don't mind for myself. The fact that I haven't enjoyed a hot bath for years doesn't bother me. But I do feel that boys 10 and 12 years old should not have to take lukewarm baths all year round.

My husband was an only child and he's plenty spoiled. He also grabs the best cuts of meat for himself and if his piece of pie is a little smashed he'll trade with one of the kids.

Have you ever heard of this sort of thing? Please tell me what to do.—BLANK WALL.

Dear Blank: You have three children—not two—and they are all out of the ordinary. It's unusual for a father to be so petty and selfish but to have two sons, 10 and 12 years of age, who actually want to take a bath hot OR cold is virtually unheard of.

There's nothing you can do about a man who snatches the choice cuts of meat for himself, because the platter should be offered to the man of the house before the kids. You can remedy the hot water situation, however. Buy a larger hot water heater and give him the bill on your next birthday.

Suspicious Roommate

Dear Ann: I am a college student with a problem that may sound trivial but it has been causing me terrific embarrassment.

I am rooming with a girl from my home town. We live in a dorm—two and three students to a room. I agreed to room with her in a moment of pity because she was very unpopular in high school.

Almost every day she will say to me in front of another student (or preferably a group), "You stole my toothpaste" or, "Why did you take my comb and brush?"

This morning she stormed into the dining hall during breakfast and shouted: "Why did you take my box of soap flakes?"

I excused myself and took her back to the room and showed her the soap flakes were under her bed—where she had put them.

I'm fed up on these accusations. She refuses to apologize to set the record straight. What can I do?—WHIPPING POST.

Dear Post: Go to the head of housing arrangements and ask to be assigned to another roommate as soon as possible.

Expensive Date

Dear Ann: Who is right? Please decide. I go with a fellow who is always short of money. I have a good job and know how to pay my bills and save a little, too.

He needs $25 to meet an insurance payment and promised to pay me back next pay day. Well, I gave him the $25 and now, several pay days later, he still hasn't made good his word.

When I asked him for the money last night he said, "You're mighty cheap."

Then he enumerated to the penny how much he had spent on me in the last two months. Now I feel funny about the $25. Do you think I should skip it?—IN DOUBT.

Dear In: Absolutely not. The money he spent on you was not payment for the loan. One thing has nothing whatever to do with the other.

P.S.: He sounds like a gem. Are you sure you can afford him?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sailor Resumes Duty

Heights Scouts Entertain PTA

Units sponsored by the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association were in charge of the "Girl Scout Night" program at a meeting Monday evening.

The PTA sponsors Troops 85 and 66 and Brownies. Representatives of each troop conducted a flag ceremony. Charlene Taylor was in charge of devotions.

Carl King, president, conducted business. It was announced the Intermediate Girl Scouts will have a baby sitting service at future meetings.

The date of the school carnival was announced for March 24. Reports were given by Mrs. James Massey on the January meeting of the PTA Federation and William Wilson on the January meeting of the Columbiana PTA Council.

During the program, the Brownies gave the Brownie pledge and the combined units sang songs.

Several from Troop 85 explained how they earned their badges, including Kathy Crooks, Jill Salisbury, Susan Greenwood, Betty Freeman, Jane Snow, Linda Haney and Susan McElhane.

Troop 66 gave a play, "The Lamp Went Out." The cast included Diane Green, Susan Dotson, Mary Lou McGaffie, Sharon Fisher, Susan Shone, Jane Freeman and Joan Brereton.

The attendance banner was won by the second grade. A lunch was served by the second and fifth grade homeroom mothers. Next meeting is Feb. 27.

Burglary Probe Set

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The Mahoning County grand jury will investigate the county's increasing burglary rate. County Prosecutor Thomas A. Beil has subpoenaed Sheriff Paul J. Winter Snow Piles Up Copeland's Out On Limb— Guesses On Early Spring!

Chilled and snow-weary Tri-State Area residents may get an early spring — perhaps by the middle of this month — if the present winter weather pattern holds up, according to Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport.

Copeland reported January was the seventh coldest in his 68-year records, and that the winter has already posted more snow for the half-way point than the normal six-month cycle.

The average temperature last month was 21 degrees, 6 degrees below normal for January. The coldest January in his books was 1908 with an average temperature of 13.1 degrees!

January 1912 had an average temperature of 16 degrees for second place, but the low of a minus 28 degrees on Jan. 12, 1912, was the deepest mercury dip, Copeland has recorded.

The temperature last month ranged from a high of 51 degrees on Jan. 13 to a low of minus 18 degrees Jan. 25. This low reading was the coldest since January 1942 when the mercury fell to minus 21 and minus 20.

Snowfall in January amounted to 13.5 inches, compared to the normal 8.5 inches. Snow for November, December and January totals 32.5 inches, compared to the normal 28.5 inches for those 3 months, plus February, March and April.

Last month was the coldest January since 1948 when the average temperature was 17.6 degrees. That year there were 12 nights of below zero temperature compared to 8 nights this past month.

Other cold Januaries were 1904 with an average temperature of 18 degrees, 1945 with 19 degrees and 1920 with 19.5 degrees.

Copeland said if the pattern of the previous cold winters holds up warmer weather can be expected around Feb. 15 or Feb. 20. In previous years snow melted off by mid-February, and there was little or none for the rest of the winter.

January of 1932 was the warmest with an average temperature of 30.8 degrees.

Rainfall continues to be below normal for the present winter. Rainfall last month totaled 1.38 inches, compared to the norm of 2.8 inches.

125 At Citywide Recreation Event

About 125 young people attended the citywide recreational night, in observance of Youth Week, Tuesday at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church under sponsorship of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

Young people of the LaCrosse Church of the Nazarene led devotions and the Rev. Robert Tanguy, pastor of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, and Miss Betty Eumson of the First Church of Christ, led games and other activities.

Refreshments were served by the host church.

The observance will be climaxed with a youth rally Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Calvary Methodist Church.

The ministerial group also is sponsoring morning devotions over WOHI this week.

Weirton Teacher Talks To Chester Kiwanians

Charles Jones of Weirton, teacher and coach at Broadview Junior High School at Weirton, spoke on West Virginia University at a meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Hall auditorium.

Jones, a graduate of the Morgantown university, spoke on the founding and growth of the school, which is currently observing its 94th anniversary.

Ray Stevens, secretary, was program chairman. Albert Kell gave the invocation. Bernard Reber of the Key Club was a guest.

Alvin Fineman reported on the March of Dimes sponsored by the club.

ON THE GO. Denmark's Minister of Transport Kai Lindberg likes to roll his own. He is shown transporting himself by scooter during an inspection of Copenhagen's airport. Scooters are used there by airline personnel.

Add a well-beaten egg to three cups of mashed seasoned potatoes and shape into patties. Dot with butter and broil; turn with a wide spatula or pancake turner to brown other side.

Convict Loses Court Stay Bid

The Ohio Supreme Court today let stand a 10-25-year sentence of James H. Maras, 21, of Warren for his part in the armed robbery of the Barnett Motel west of Salem Dec. 10, 1959.

Maras and his brother, Edmund Maras, 31, of Newton Falls were indicted for the motel robbery in which Charles Harris of Warren also took part.

Harris was later slain in a gun-battle with police at Dixon, Ill., when Edmund Maras was captured and returned to Columbiana County.

James Maras now is serving the term at the Ohio Penitentiary for the motel robbery, while his brother is in Iowa State Prison serving a 25-year term for an armed robbery of a supermarket in Davenport, Iowa.

The Supreme Court today also refused to disturb an $8,500 award to Glenna Daniels from Warren J. Dickey of Meadowlands, Pa., for injuries received in a 1958 automobile collision on Route 14 north of Salem.

Takes Own Life

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Morris B. Payne, 76, retired commander of the 43rd Division of the Connecticut National Guard, was found dead in his home Tuesday of a gunshot wound. A medical examiner said the wound was self-inflicted. Payne, an architect, was born in Waterford, Conn.

HAPPIEST WAY TO SAVE...

Enjoy Quality Foods At A Savings This Week During Loblaw's Big...

Freshlike Sale!

WHEN YOUR SHOPPING HAS ENDED
THE LOBLAW SAVINGS LINGER ON

Unlike the cash savings you make at Loblaw and other stores, the "AA" Stamps and 5c Premium Certificates have a comforting permanence. They are "banked" in your stamp-saver books and your cookie jar to be "with-drawn" at a later date for something of lasting value. They are savings that mean long-term enjoyment... the happiest way to save.

Cash savings on food are important (that's why we give so many of them), but a shopper seldom, if ever, actually "saves" cash food savings. Those loose-change savings never seem to get separated from pocket money.

That's why homemakers like to get a good slice of their food savings in "take home" stamps, knowing that each 4 stamps is worth a penny in value at the merchandise redemption center.

And that's why Loblaw customers invest in money-saving 5c PC's which they put away to purchase something worthwhile at a very low price.

Your Filled 'AA' Stamps Books Are Worth $2.00 Toward Your Grocery Purchases And $3.00 to $4.00 Toward Valuable Premiums at Loblaw's...

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Some Habits Carried Into Adulthood

A reliable observer reported this to me: A certain business executive in his late thirties has quit biting his finger nails. They have been growing out nicely for several months.

He had been biting them constantly since he was about ten years old. His parents seemed never to nag at him about the matter and to have accepted the nail-biting as a lifetime habit. Said this observer to me: "When I asked this man how he finally quit nail-biting, he replied, 'While on vacation last summer, lying on my bunk in the moonlight, I just decided I could quit such foolishness, and I did. That's all there was to it.'"

Dr. Garry Meyers

You and I have known some adults who still bite their nails to the quick. I get a letter now and then from a youth or his parents that he still bites his nails or sucks his thumb, at certain special times.

IN SOME OF these cases the parents have helped promote the habit by their constant concern and their everlasting rebuke or expressed irritation over the matter.

Whether the person in question is five, 12 or 40, his recovery may happen in ways not apparent to him or anybody else. But, as a rule, recovery occurs with a strong resolve by the person himself, when he feels sure he can carry through his resolve.

Of course, the fewer annoyances he feels over the matter and the more favorable his family atmosphere, the more sure his success.

The older the child and the longer the habit has persisted, the more his parents may annoy him about it. Indeed, it can become a source of constant tragic conflict between him and one or both his parents.

Writes a mother from New Jersey:

"My son, 12 years old, sucks his thumb when he is concentrating. This happens mostly when he is reading or watching television. I have never noticed him doing it at any other time except when he was a small child."

"THIS DRIVES my husband almost crazy and he gets everyone upset with his yelling at the boy. I have counted the number of times in one evening he yells and it was five times in an hour and a half."

My reply in part: It's easy to see that your husband could feel vexed over this boy's infantile habit. No doubt your silent or expressed disapproval of Dad's ways only make matters worse.

If you could manage yourself for some days so as not to be angered over your husband's outbursts, there might come a relaxed and lovely time when you could win Dad to try to quit saying a word about the matter, even to have no stirrings inside, with the fervent wish that the lad might resolve on his own will and accord to overcome the habit.

My bulletins, "Nervous Child" and "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Goodballet Issues Proclamation For 'Boy Scout Week'

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet issued a proclamation today calling upon East Liverpool residents to join in the observance of National Boy Scout Week, which will open Tuesday and continue through Feb. 13.

The mayor pointed out the observance marks the 51st anniversary of founding of the Boy Scouts of America, chartered by Congress as a program for all boys.

The program has affected the lives of over 33 million boys and men since 1910 and now has an enrollment of more than 5 million, of whom 3,400 are active in the Columbiana Council, the mayor said.

The theme of the observance will be "Strengthen America... Character Counts."

In his proclamation, the mayor urged citizens to "recognize and support the unselfish service to our community by the volunteer leaders who give generously of their time, efforts and energy to the benefit of youth and also the assistance given by religious bodies, school organizations, veterans' associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units."

City Motorist Fined

By Judge At Palestine

James Knight of Annesley Rd. was fined on two traffic charges by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine Monday.

Knight was fined $15 and costs for driving without a license, and $5 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Arthur Herriott of Alice St., East Palestine, was fined $10 and costs for speeding, and Paul Esenwein of W. Clark St., East Palestine, forfeited a $15 bond for speeding.

Legislator Collapses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Sen. John J. Corrigan, D-Cuyahoga, was reported in fair condition today at Mt. Carmel Hospital where he is under observation. The 42-year-old legislator collapsed Tuesday night in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel. Nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Night Classes Canceled Due To Power Failure

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Night classes were canceled for some 1,400 students at Kent State University Tuesday because of a power failure. The failure, reportedly caused by an overload on a fuse cutoff, occurred at 1:45 p.m., but most afternoon classes continued on schedule.

Lighting in the dormitories was restored at 8 p.m. Dormitory cafeterias served students picnic-style suppers as their electric cooking and dishwashing equipment could not be used.

Drained canned Mandarin oranges make a pretty garnish for mashed yams.

Named At Miami U.

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—An assistant professor of religion, Dr. F. Donald James, will succeed Dr. James H. St. John as assistant dean of the arts and sciences college of Miami University. The school announced the appointment Tuesday and said Dr. St. John is retiring this year.

There's nothing like a FLAME...

You save 332,100 Lire* in 10 years with a Modern Automatic GAS Water Heater

Amazing but true. You save 332,100 Lire or about $538.00 over a ten year period by heating water with gas rather than by any other automatic method. And, modern automatic gas water heaters give you better hot water service, because gas is up to 3 times faster. You never run out of hot water with a flame and a properly sized gas water heater. Even if you wash several loads of clothes, one after the other, you still have all the hot water you need. See your plumber or gas appliance dealer.

There's nothing like a flame for thrifter water heating, faster water heating.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Ernie Kovacs Couldn't Care Less

If you want to see a mad Hungarian, just tell Ernie Kovacs that you don't understand the kookie clues he dramatizes on his Thursday night "Take a Good Look" show (ABC, 10:30).

"They're not supposed to be under too d. They're supposed to be laughed at," says Ernie, his head shaking disgustedly at the thought of so many dimwits running around loose. Should any of the panel members on his little charade show actually guess the person in the news from one of Ernie's clues, he very likely would become a Trappist monk.

Hal Humphrey

Prior to the inauguration, Ernie had made arrangements to fly President Kennedy's barber to Hollywood as one of the guest contestants. Before the barber departed from Washington, that tragic air collision happened over New York, and Kennedy's barber decided to stay on the ground.

MEANWHILE, Ernie already had pre-taped the elaborate set of clues he had for the barber, including an intricate and heavily dramatic scene at a guillotine ("Just trim the sides").

"It was no big problem," says Ernie, with that soft, sinister laugh of his. "I just substituted an Olympic swimming star and used the same clues. Come to think of it, I believe we did add an Indian with five hula-hoops as a hint for the five linking rings symbolizing the Olympic Games."

And that probably is the most sensible clue Ernie ever afforded his panelists.

The ABC network watches Ernie suspiciously. The brass, after all, bought a panel show, and it begins to look as if Ernie may be bootlegging comedy into it.

SNEAKING COMEDY on to the ABC network is no mean feat, because it is well known in trade circles that ABC makes its big money selling violence and cut-rate sex. Ernie's show follows "The Untouchables," and ABC wonders if that audience wants a comedy chaser.

Ernie is no fool. He tried to inject some swashbuckling adventure into one of his clues by doing a takeoff on Zorro once. He portrayed "Blotto" who was so addicted to the grape that he couldn't cut a "B" with his sword.

There were objections from on high, and Ernie finally got it past the censors by changing the character to "Stupido" who was so stupid he couldn't cut an "S" with the sword.

A FAVORITE character of Ernie's, Percy Dovetonsils, was sacked recently. It hasn't been determined whether it was the sponsor or the network who objected to Percy, a lovable nut whom Ernie has been doing for 11 years. Ernie says he is better off using a panel show as a front for his comedy than if he were to do a straight comedy show, because the networks simply aren't making room for genuine comedy today.

Ernie thinks the funniest things on TV now are the marvelous cliché lines of dialogue. He enjoys sitting with his 11-year-old daughter, Kippie, and guessing the lines before the characters speak them.

"FOR EXAMPLE," says Ernie, "if you see a grim-faced doctor walking out of surgery he has just performed on a little girl, you just know he's going to say one of those standard lines to the parents: 'She'll never walk again,' or 'She's in there calling for you,' or 'If that serum doesn't get here...'"

Ernie and his wife, Edie Adams, head for New York soon to tape a Max Liebman special for "The Steel Hour." It is called "Private Eye, Private Eye."

"I'm doing it because I want to be overexposed," said Ernie. "No body wants to be overexposed but me."

Ernie also is authoring three new books ("I want to be protected"). The working titles are "How To Rob Small Stores," "Nuclear Fission at Home" and "John Has Fungus."

Separate Trials Denied

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for Claud Maul, 19, and Harry Mollis, 26, have lost a bid for separate trials for the Cincinnati youths on first-degree murder charges in the slaying of a crippled grocer, Judge Otis Hess ruled Tuesday the two must stand trial together. The lawyers contended the defendants had implicated each other in statements to police.

Secretary Of Y Gives Composition For Rotary Club

"You—The Man," a composition in free verse, was recited by Carl A. Werner to fellow members of the Rotary Club at Tuesday's meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

The general secretary of the YMCA, Werner told of the many pressures and misunderstandings confronting man from birth to death.

"Man comes into this world without his consent, but leaves against his will. During his stay on earth, his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings with the balance of his species," Werner said.

"What this country needs is more free speech, worth listening to. The words you have heard didn't cost you a cent, but you'll have to admit that they may fit 'You—The Man.'"

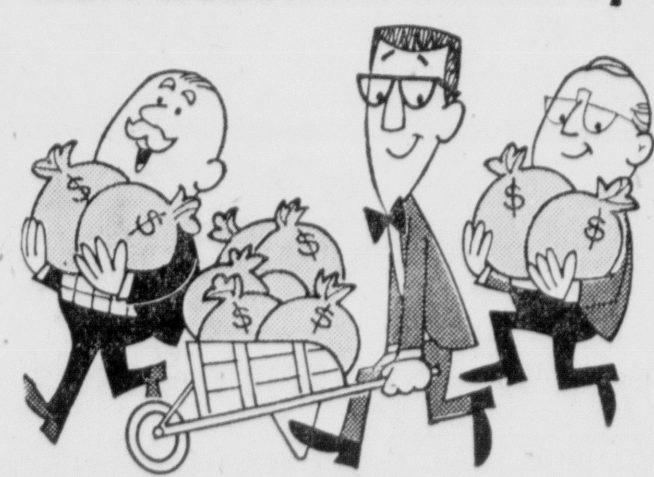

Werner was introduced by George Hargraves, president, who presided.

Cincinnati Man Faces Pen For Estate Fraud

CINCINNATI (AP) — Harry S. Leyman Jr., wealthy Cincinnati businessman, faces a year and a day in federal prison on a charge of omitting about $600,000 in accounting for his father's estate. Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton Tuesday sentenced Leyman who elected not to fight the charge.

The government asserted Leyman valued his father's estate at $4,974,115 when it should have been $5,582,430. The difference was cash found in a bank safety deposit box. Leyman could have been sentenced to three years in prison and fined $5,000.

100 Expected At Church Youth Dinner To Be Held In Midland

The Midland United Christian Youth Movement will sponsor a Christian Youth Fellowship Youth Week area banquet Thursday from 8 to 8 p. m. at the Midland First Presbyterian Church.

Host ministers are the Rev. George H. Bohlender of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. L. S. Cass of the Methodist Church and the Rev. Sam Pacella of the Italian Christian Church.

About 100 youths and adults are expected for the dinner. Allen Haggerty will be toastmaster.

Guests will include officers of the Executive Board of the CYM of Beaver County and members of CYM of the Four - Mile United Presbyterian Church, the Ohio View Lutheran Church, the Industry Evangelical United Brethren Church and Beaver Presbyterian Church.

Following the dinner there will be a songfest and introduction of officers by Richard Palmer, president of the Midland UCM. Skits

No Flood Danger Seen At Present

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio is in no flood danger at present, Natural Resources Director Herbert B. Eagon said today.

The director cited a report from the Division of Water, an agency of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. In the report, hydrologist Paul Kaser points out that:

1. Stream flow generally is low, one-fourth to one-third of normal in many cases.
2. Topsoil is frozen to a depth of only a few inches, not the one to two feet depth of freezing noted at the time of the floods that swept Ohio early in 1959.
3. Storage areas of most of Ohio's reservoirs can hold a great deal more water.

As a result, Kasor says in the report, a sudden excess of water from melting snow or heavy rainfall probably could be absorbed by the streams, soil and reservoirs.

Net Profits Decline

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arthur G. McKee & Co., international engineering and construction firm, reports its estimated net profit for 1960 declined to $2,430,000 or $2.31 a share. It was $3,675,804 or $3.52 a share the previous year.

Quartet Group Seats Officers

New officers of the East Liverpool Chapter of SPEBSQSA were installed Monday night in Carpenters Hall. Twenty-four members and two guests were present.

The installing team included Jack Varley, Johnny Applesed district vice president, and Donald Bell, past district secretary. They were introduced by J. Wilbur Newman, sergeant-at-arms and member of the executive committee.

Seated were Donald Schussler, president; Jack K. Hile, administrative vice president; Gerald J. Hughes, secretary; Edward F. Fahmert, treasurer, and Dean Manning, delegate to the district board.

The oath was administered by Bell, while Varley presented the charge.

Edward DeBee, past administrative vice president and past secretary, presented Dividen with a past secretary's pin.

Schussler announced that the chapter will vote on a district proposal for dues or agree on its own proposals at the next meeting.

Selections were presented by the "Welcomers," district semi-finalists quartet of Glen Hart, tenor; Howard Claypool, lead; Robert Blatchford, baritone, and Richard Smith, bass.

William E. Brooks directed the chorus in rehearsal. Refreshments were served by Sam Wolfe and Blatchford of the social and house committee. The next meeting is Monday night at 8 in Carpenters Hall.

Sohio, Refineries Employes Reach Pact Agreement

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new contract providing a 14-cent hourly wage increase for nearly 1,500 employes at four Standard Oil of Ohio (Sohio) refineries will be put into effect as the result of an agreement between Sohio and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

The one-year contracts are retroactive to Jan. 2 at Refinery No. 1 and No. 2 in Cleveland and in Lima. The contract for Toledo workers is effective as of Jan. 23.

Contracts had been held up pending agreement in Toledo. Sohio spokesmen said Tuesday the dispute in Toledo was resolved when union members agreed to drop participation in a court suit to force arbitration on discounts to employes.

Unfair labor practice charges have been filed by both sides with the National Labor Relations Board. Neither side would indicate whether they would be dropped following ratification of the contract by the union members.

Israel Premier To Stake Future On Lavon Affair

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Stubborn old David Ben-Gurion, one of the founding fathers of the Israeli republic, staked his political future today on getting his own way in the Lavon Affair.

President Izhak Ben-Zvi, accepting the 74-year-old patriarch's resignation as prime minister Tuesday, gave no immediate indication whether he would ask him to try and form a new government or call for new elections. Ben-Gurion's Cabinet will continue as a caretaker government.

Ben-Gurion, who has led the 13-year-old Jewish state for all but 1½ of its years—when he retired voluntarily—said he was going to take a leave of three or four weeks to do some reading and writing.

The veteran statesman has quit as prime minister seven times before—usually as a political maneuver—and always has bounced back on top.

He said in his letter of resignation that he had "no alternative" after failing to gain unanimous Cabinet support in his row with former Defense Minister Pinhas Lavon.

Pike Revenue Drops

CLEVELAND (AP)—A fall-off in truck traffic on the Ohio Turnpike caused a drop in revenue for January, reports James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission. Shocknessy said $1,393,500 estimated revenue for the month was $124,663 less than the actual revenue for January 1960.

Peoples Gas Rate Hike Is Suspended

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission at Harrisburg Tuesday suspended for 6 months the proposed rate increase by the Peoples Natural Gas Co., which serves Midland and a number of other Western Pennsylvania communities. The utility had proposed to raise rates by $3,243,000 a year.

The commission at the same time held in abeyance another Peoples request for $1,103,000 to offset a boost in wholesale price by Hope Natural Gas Company, of Clarksburg, W. Va., one of the major suppliers of Peoples.

The cost-of-gas increase was postponed with the co-operation of Peoples, after the company was advised that the Federal Power Commission had suspended a request by Hope for a wholesale rate increase in the same amount.

The boost in this category will become operative May 1, subject to refunds, under federal regulation.

The $3,243,000 rate increase does not pertain to wholesale rate increases. Peoples told the PUC that it needs the money to offset higher operating costs and a deficiency in earnings.

'The Butcher' Fled Ohio

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Chief Maury C. Koblenz of the Division of Correction said records show that Herman Frederick Marks, "The Butcher," escaped from the Cuyahoga County workhouse in 1946 while serving a term for "auto trespassing." Marks, 39, was the executioner in the early months of the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Cuba. He was arrested in New York last Friday for alleged illegal entry into this country.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Some Habits Carried Into Adulthood

A reliable observer reported this to me: A certain business executive in his late thirties has quit biting his finger nails. They have been growing out nicely for several months. He had been biting them constantly since he was about ten years old. His parents seemed never to nag at him about the mat-

Dr. Garry Meyers

You and I have known some adults who still bite their nails to the quick. I get a letter now and then from a youth or his parents that he still bites his nails or sucks his thumb, at certain special times.

IN SOME OF these cases the parents have helped promote the habit by their constant concern and their everlasting rebuke or expressed irritation over the matter. Whether the person in question is five, 12 or 40, his recovery may happen in ways not apparent to him or anybody else. But, as a rule, recovery occurs with a strong resolve by the person himself, when he feels sure he can carry through his resolve.

Of course, the fewer annoyances he feels over the matter and the more favorable his family atmosphere, the more sure his success. The older the child and the longer the habit has persisted, the more his parents may annoy him about it. Indeed, it can become a source of constant tragic conflict between him and one or both his parents.

Writes a mother from New Jersey:

"My son, 12 years old, sucks his thumb when he is concentrating. This happens mostly when he is reading or watching television. I have never noticed him doing it at any other time except when he was a small child."

"THIS DRIVES my husband almost crazy and he gets everyone upset with his yelling at the boy. I have counted the number of times in one evening he yells and it was five times in an hour and a half."

My reply in part: It's easy to see that your husband could feel vexed over this boy's infantile habit. No doubt your silent or expressed disapproval of Dad's ways only make matters worse.

If you could manage yourself for some days so as not to be angered over your husband's outbursts, there might come a relaxed and lovely time when you could win Dad to try to quit saying a word about the matter, even to have no stirrings inside, with the fervent wish that the lad might resolve on his own will and accord to overcome the habit.

My bulletins, "Nervous Child" and "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Goodballet Issues Proclamation For 'Boy Scout Week'

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet issued a proclamation today calling upon East Liverpool residents to join in the observance of National Boy Scout Week, which will open Tuesday and continue through Feb. 13.

The mayor pointed out the observance marks the 51st anniversary of founding of the Boy Scouts of America, chartered by Congress as a program for all boys.

The program has affected the lives of over 33 million boys and men since 1910 and now has an enrollment of more than 5 million, of whom 3,400 are active in the Columbiana Council, the mayor said.

The theme of the observance will be "Strengthen America. . . Character Counts."

In his proclamation, the mayor urged citizens to "recognize and support the unselfish service to our community by the volunteer leaders who give generously of their time, efforts and energy to the benefit of youth and also the assistance given by religious bodies, school organizations, veterans' associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer units."

City Motorist Fined By Judge At Palestine

James Knight of Annesley Rd. was fined on two traffic charges by County Judge Herbert Artman at East Palestine Monday.

Knight was fined $15 and costs for driving without a license, and $5 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Arthur Herriott of Alice St., East Palestine, was fined $10 and costs for speeding, and Paul Esenwein of W. Clark St., East Palestine, forfeited a $15 bond for speeding.

Legislator Collapses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Sen. John J. Corrigan, D-Cuyahoga, was reported in fair condition today at Mt. Carmel Hospital where he is under observation. The 42-year-old legislator collapsed Tuesday night in the Deshler-Hilton Hotel. Nature of his illness was not disclosed.

Night Classes Canceled Due To Power Failure

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Night classes were canceled for some 1,400 students at Kent State University Tuesday because of a power failure. The failure, reportedly caused by an overload on a fuse cutoff, occurred at 1:45 p.m., but most afternoon classes continued on schedule.

Lighting in the dormitories was restored at 8 p.m. Dormitory cafeterias served students picnic-style suppers as their electric cooking and dishwashing equipment could not be used.

Drained canned Mandarin oranges make a pretty garnish for mashed yams.

Named At Miami U.

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—An assistant professor of religion, Dr. F. Donald James, will succeed Dr. James H. St. John as assistant dean of the arts and sciences college of Miami University. The school announced the appointment Tuesday and said Dr. St. John is retiring this year.

You save 332,100 Lire* in 10 years with a Modern Automatic GAS Water Heater

Amazing but true. You save 332,100 Lire or about $538.00 over a ten year period by heating water with gas rather than by any other automatic method. And, modern automatic gas water heaters give you better hot water service, because gas is up to 3 times faster.

You never run out of hot water with a flame and a properly sized gas water heater. Even if you wash several loads of clothes, one after the other, you still have all the hot water you need. See your plumber or gas appliance dealer.

Ernie Kovacs Couldn't Care Less

If you want to see a mad Hungarian, just tell Ernie Kovacs that you don't understand the kookie clues he dramatizes on his Thursday night "Tale a Good Look" show (ABC, 10:30).

"They're not supposed to be understood. They're supposed to be laughed at," says Ernie, his head shaking disgustedly at the thought of so many dimwits running around loose. Should any of the panel members on his little charade show actually guess the person in the news from one of Ernie's clues, he very likely would become a Trappist monk.

Hal Humphrey

Prior to the inauguration, Ernie had made arrangements to fly President Kennedy's barber to Hollywood as one of the guest contestants. Before the barber departed from Washington, that tragic air collision happened over New York, and Kennedy's barber decided to stay on the ground.

MEANWHILE, Ernie already had pre-arranged the elaborate set of clues he had for the barber, including an intricate and heavily dramatic scene at a guillotine ("Just trim the sides").

"It was no big problem," says Ernie, with that soft, sinister laugh of his. "I just substituted an Olympic swimming star and used the same clues. Come to think of it, I believe we did add an Indian with five hula-hoops as a hint for the five linking rings symbolizing the Olympic Games."

And that probably is the most sensible clue Ernie ever afforded his panelists.

The ABC network watches Ernie suspiciously. The brass, after all, bought a panel show, and it begins to look as if Ernie may be bootlegging comedy into it.

SNEAKING COMEDY on to the ABC network is no mean feat, because it is well known in trade circles that ABC makes its big money selling violence and cut-rate sex. Ernie's show follows "The Untouchables," and ABC wonders if that audience wants a comedy chaser.

Ernie is no fool. He tried to inject some swashbuckling adventure into one of his clues by doing a takeoff on Zorro once. He portrayed "Blotto" who was so addicted to the grape that he couldn't cut a "B" with his sword.

There were objections from on high, and Ernie finally got it past the censors by changing the character to "Stupido" who was so stupid he couldn't cut an "S" with the sword.

A FAVORITE character of Ernie's, Percy Dovetonsils, was sacked recently. It hasn't been determined whether it was the sponsor or the network who objected to Percy, a lovable nut whom Ernie has been doing for 11 years. Ernie says he is better off using a panel show as a front for his comedy than if he were to do a straight comedy show, because the networks simply aren't making room for genuine comedy today.

Ernie thinks the funniest things on TV now are the marvelous cliché lines of dialogue. He enjoys sitting with his 11-year-old daughter, Kippie, and guessing the lines before the characters speak them.

"FOR EXAMPLE," says Ernie, "if you see a grim-faced doctor walking out of surgery he has just performed on a little girl, you just know he's going to say one of these standard lines to the parents: 'She'll never walk again,' or 'She's in there calling for you,' or 'If that serum doesn't get here...'"

Ernie and his wife, Edie Adams, head for New York soon to tape a Max Liebman special for "The Steel Hour." It is called "Private Eye, Private Eye."

"I'm doing it because I want to be overexposed," said Ernie. "No body wants to be overexposed but me."

Ernie also is authoring three new books ("I want to be protected"). The working titles are "How To Rob Small Stores," "Nuclear Fission at Home," and "John Has Fungus."

Separate Trials Denied

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for Claud Maul, 19, and Harry Mollis, 26, have lost a bid for separate trials for the Cincinnati youths on first-degree murder charges in the slaying of a crippled grocer, Judge Otis Hess ruled Tuesday the two must stand trial together. The lawyers contended the defendants had implicated each other in statements to police.

Secretary Of Y Gives Composition For Rotary Club

"You—The Man," a composition in free verse, was recited by Carl A. Werner to fellow members of the Rotary Club at Tuesday's meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

The general secretary of the YMCA, Werner told of the many pressures and misunderstandings confronting man from birth to death.

"Man comes into this world without his consent, but leaves against his will. During his stay on earth, his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings with the balance of his species," Werner said.

"What this country needs is more free speech, worth listening to. The words you have heard didn't cost you a cent, but you'll have to admit that they may fit 'You—The Man.'"

Werner was introduced by George Hargraves, president, who presided.

Cincinnati Man Faces Pen For Estate Fraud

CINCINNATI (AP) — Harry S. Leyman Jr., wealthy Cincinnati businessman, faces a year and a day in federal prison on a charge of omitting about $600,000 in accounting for his father's estate, Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton Tuesday sentenced Leyman who elected not to fight the charge.

The government asserted Leyman valued his father's estate at $4,974,115 when it should have been $5,582,430. The difference was cash found in a bank safety deposit box, Leyman could have been sentenced to three years in prison and fined $5,000.

Kiggans' 35 Points Lead Wellsville Over Ambridge, 86-57

Tigers Zero Hoop, Fire 52 Per Cent

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Revitalized Wellsville High used a 35-point performance from veteran Bob Kiggans as a springboard to an 86-57 victory over outclassed Ambridge Tuesday night.

The Tigers, posting a neat 52 per cent shooting average, continued to flash improvement in scoring their fifth victory of the season.

Coach Jack McDevitt's rangy Orange and Black, hitting on 29 of 55 shots, also enjoyed spectacular success at the foul stripe as they turned 23 of 36 chances into points to win easily.

The outcome was never in doubt as junior guard Roger Ours sent Wellsville ahead to a comfortable lead in the first period with a flurry of field goals.

A well-balanced attack, coupled with superior rebounding strength in Kiggans, sophomore flash Steve Baldwin and big Rod Ferguson, paved the way for the Tigers to pull even in the season with a 5-5 slate.

Kiggans, 6-foot, 4-inch All - Ohio candidate, hit a new high for the season in individual scoring with 35 points on a dozen field goals and 11 of 12 foul conversions.

The burst sent his season's total ballooning to 207, increasing his average to a nifty 20.7. The big senior went the distance, turning in a fine performance despite severely blistered feet.

A sparse crowd of 506 saw the Tigers post the decisive victory at Beacom Memorial gym.

Ambridge, with a victory over Farrell, defending Pennsylvania state champion, to recommend it as a dangerous opponent, lacked the height and marksmanship to make the game close.

Coach Moe Becker's Bridgers hit 25 of 70 shots for 35 per cent, but they had only one good quarter—the fourth—when they rang up 23 points.

Ambridge is now 8-6 for the season. Senior Ray Brokas, shooting from far outside, collected 26 points on 13 field goals to lead his squad. Bartolo was the only other starter to hit double figures with 13.

Brokas delivered 20 of his points in a sizzling final period performance as he connected consistently on push and jump shots from the back court.

Wellsville's Ferguson, 6-3 senior out for the sport for the initial year, saw his consecutive string of 19 straight foul shots end in the second quarter. He finished with 11 points for the night.

Both Ferguson and young Steve Baldwin turned in yeoman's jobs in rebounding for Wellsville.

The Tigers got off to a rapid start as Ours used his shifty motions to hit 11 points in the opening quarter. He also hit double figures with 20, getting nine goals and a pair of fouls.

Starter Phil Baldwin got nine, while substitutes Bill DeSarro and Wilbert Jones added two points each.

Ambridge showed a deficit of only four in the field goal totals. The Bridgers, however, received only

Durbin Nets 22 In Win Over Chester

Big Mike Durbin paced Beaver Local to its 10th victory of the campaign Tuesday night by scoring 22 points in a 70-40 win over rival Chester at Williamsport.

Beaver Local dominated its two-game series with Chester this season by winning an earlier contest, 66-49.

Coach Jack Frontone's team now stands at 10-3 for the season while the Panthers bowed for the 11th time in 14 games.

Beaver Local led all the way. As in the previous battle between the two clubs, the game got off to a slow start with the Beavers taking an 8-5 edge as the first period ended.

Action picked up in the second period and the Red and White rolled to a 30-16 margin. After three periods, Beaver Local owned a 30-point difference, 54-24.

Durbin's 22 markers came on nine field goals and four free throws.

While Durbin led the way, two other Beaver Local starters hit in the double figures and nine players in all took part in the scoring parade.

Jim Pike and John Baker each added 12 points for the winners.

Chester didn't have anyone in the high - point category. Bill Mackall and Kelse Johnson shared honors for Coach Max Tuttle's squad by collecting 9 points apiece.

Beaver Local hit on 36 per cent of its field goal attempts.

The Beavers, already assured of a winning season, have four games remaining on the 1960-61 schedule. Their next test is Saturday night when Springfield invades the Beaver Local gym. It was a clean sweep for Beaver Local last night as the reserve squad capped the preliminary contest, 56-36.

N. Cumberland Comes From Behind To Defeat Weirton Madonna, 60-59

NEW CUMBERLAND — Trailing throughout most of the contest, New Cumberland came roaring from behind in the fourth period to nip Weirton Madonna, 60-59, here Tuesday night.

The home crowd was treated to a thriller as Coach John Kuzio's team pulled its 12th victory of the season out of the fire. The Blue Raiders have lost only three contests.

The Weirton five jumped off to an 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter and upped the count to 36-29 at halftime.

New Cumberland went into the fourth quarter trailing, 48-45, but with six minutes remaining, John Kiger dropped in a foul shot that knotted the count at 50-50.

Ken Freshwater's bucket put New Cumberland in front, 52-50, and the Raiders held to the lead until the final buzzer.

Madonna, after closing within one point, 60-59, tried a last-ditch shot which hit the rim, rolled around and finally dropped off as the buzzer sounded.

Charlie Miller, New Cumberland's smooth - working 6-foot-2 pivot man, was the big gun Tuesday night with 23 points. He fired in 10 field goals and three fouls. Kiger wound up with 13 while Joe Everly scored 10.

Matching Miller's total was Weirton's Homer Smith, a 5-foot-10 center.

New Cumberland returns to action Friday night at Mingo Junction. Weirton captured the reserve contest.

EL Wrestling Team Laces Boardman, 37-8, For Third

East Liverpool's wrestling team unleashed their top performance of the season by picking up a 37-8 decision Tuesday at Boardman.

The victory gave Coach Ray Peduzzi's squad a 3-3 record so far this season but the Potters have their work cut out for them when undefeated Beaver Local invades the Memorial Auditorium Thursday for a 4 p. m. match.

East Liverpool won the first seven en matches Tuesday and captured nine out of the 11.

Four pins recorded were by John Goempel (114), Joe Jackson (135), Frank Danzo (122) and Gene Wolfe (177).

The Potters started on the right foot when they were awarded five points on a forfeit which went to Dom Danzo.

Decisioning their opponents were Gary Burton (129), Tom Czech (140), Glenn Mays (145) and Bob Parson (165).

East Liverpool dropped the 156-pound match when Brown pinned Allen Douglas and Boardman's heavyweight Ginsberg decided Jim Ferrello, 3-2.

The results follow:

105 — D. Danzo (EL) won by forfeit.

114 — Goempel (EL) pinned Wright (B) 3:30.

122 — F. Danzo (EL) pinned Barb (B) 2:35.

129 — Burton (EL) decided Heintzelman (B), 4-1.

135 — Jackson (EL) pinned Firtick (B) 5:03.

140 — Czech (EL) decided Padilla (B) 12:10.

145 — Mays (EL) decided Tracy (B) 4-3.

165 — Parson (EL) decided Antrom (B) 4-2.

177 — Wolfe (EL) pinned Carrosella (B) 56 seconds.

Heavyweight — Ginsberg (B) defeated Ferrello (EL) 3-2.

Tie Continues In 'Y' League

Hale's and Hague's remained deadlocked for the lead after posting their third straight in the YMCA-Member League Tuesday night on the 'Y' floor.

Hale's had to go into an overtime to top Adkins, 64-57. Gene Nicholson pumped in 19 points to pace Hale's while Keith Bishop tallied 23 for the losers.

In another tight battle, Hague's eked out a 53-52 win over Weekley's. Ken Brophy topped the league leaders with 19 points and Jack Bailey returned to his old form by dropping in 20 for Weekley's.

Rounding out Tuesday's schedule, Anderson's handed Eckstein's a 54-52 setback. Bernie Krawiec scored 19 points for the winners while Eckstein led his team with 20.

Davidson Sits Out

Salem Warms Up For EL By Downing South, 62-48

SALEM — Playing without the services of their 6-foot-5 pivot star, Don Davidson, the Salem Quakers warmed up for Friday night's test with the East Liverpool Potters by slapping a 62-48 defeat on Youngstown South here Tuesday night.

Davidson was sidelined with a sprained ankle. He was dressed but not needed and will be ready for the contest at East Liverpool Friday.

The victory was Salem's 11th straight while South dropped its seventh game in 13 outings.

Here's Seventh Grade Schedule For Thursday

- 4:15 — Hune Co. vs. Curran's
- 5 — Dawson's vs. Coca-Cola
- 5:15 — Potters Bank and Trust vs. Ogilvie's

Picking up the slack left by the absence of Davidson was Ted Thorne, a 6-foot-5 junior, who grabbed 20 rebounds and tallied 23 points to pace the Quakers.

Salem had one of its poorest nights from the field and the contest was marked by numerous turnovers. Ernie McElroy paced South with 15 points.

The Quakers led most of the way by taking a 16-14 edge at the end of the first period and 32-21 at halftime.

Salem also captured the reserve contest, 59-39.

12 foul chances, making seven. The losers lost Krages, starting center, on personals with 3:39 left in the game.

The Tigers will test their newfound success formula — hustle and better shooting — against Midland Friday night at Beacom Memorial gym.

In the preliminary, the Wellsville reserves of Coach Carl Firm edged the Ambridge reserves, 38-36, in the final 30 seconds of play.

Center Alvin Jackson brought Wellsville from behind with a left-hand hook shot with 22 seconds remaining, then Frank Luckino added a technical foul shot to seal the triumph.

Jackson's 21 paced the Tiger reserves, with Luckino getting six. Skornieczny's 13 were high for the losers.

Kuzma cleaned the bench last night as 12 players took part in the scoring. Carl Anderson, Midland's outstanding scorer and rebounder, took honors with 18 points.

Anderson shot only 14 times but canned nine field goals. His shooting was typical of the Midland squad which fired a very warm 53 per cent. The Leopards took 68 cracks at the hoop and made 36.

Also impressive for Midland was Ron Caione who scored 11 points and was a big help on the backboards. Al Alois jumped into the high figures with 13 points.

Midland grabbed a 15-10 edge at the end of the first eight minutes and then shot in front, 41-21, at intermission. Fast breaking and doing a little bit of everything, the Leopards pressed the score to 66-29 after three periods.

The Leopards take a rest from Section 8 action Friday when they travel to Wellsville.

Vikings Lose 6th Game In Final Period

Newell kept pace with Bethany's Little Bisons for three periods Tuesday night but lost out in the final eight minutes, bowing 71-65 on the small Bethany court, which has been a jinx to most visiting teams.

The Vikings dropped their sixth game in 15 starts but saw the return to action of Tom Bell, their leading scorer. Bell was only used about one half but his presence was felt as he scored 14 points.

Newell trailed 33-28 at halftime but stormed back to tie the count at 49-49 when the third quarter ended.

Mick Staley was the big gun for Newell again, the 6-foot-2 junior swished 19 points through the net. Ron Noland added 14 to the attack.

Bethany's Mitchell, a newcomer to the squad who became eligible when the second semester of school started, paced the Bisons with 21 points. Pyle netted 17.

Bethany is one of the four teams which will take part in the Class "A" tournament at Follansbee later this month.

Newell and Bethany have now split in two meetings this season. Newell took the first contest, 66-65.

Last night's reserve contest went to Newell, 45-32.

Chisox In Row Over Pitcher

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Stanka, 39, a right-handed pitcher of questionable major league ability, is causing an international baseball situation.

Stanka is the property of the Chicago White Sox but prefers pitching in Japan. He posted a 17-12 record there with the Nankai Hawks of Osaka.

The White Sox shelled out $30,000 for him in 1959 when he was purchased from Sacramento. They feel they have a right to protect their investment.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says Stanka is out of order.

Stanka says the White Sox are using him as a scapegoat in an attempt to deal for several Japanese players for publicity reasons.

After the Sox purchased Stanka from Sacramento, the 6-foot-5 pitcher from Waynoka, Okla., said he was quitting baseball to go into business. Later, the Sox learned he was pitching in Japan.

This year Stanka was sent a contract by the Sox, who have yet to hear from him directly.

He reportedly has signed a 1961 contract with the Nankai Hawks.

Stanka claims his 1960 contract with Nankai was "a heck of a lot bigger" than that offered by the Sox and that he got a raise this year.

Bill Veck, president of the White Sox, says "Stanka is still the property of the White Sox and represents an investment by us. I certainly think we are entitled to protect our investment or come to an equitable agreement of a settlement."

"We have informed Japanese baseball officials of this."

Mazeroski's World Series Blow Tops Thrills In '60

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

The place was Pittsburgh's Forbes Field; the time, Oct. 13, 1960 — late afternoon on a hazy autumn day. The score was tied at 9-9 in the ninth inning of the seventh and final game of the World Series when Bill Mazeroski, a 273 hitter, strode to the plate clutching his bat in the manner of mighty Casey, determined to do or die.

Mazeroski did. He slammed Ralph Terry's second pitch high over the left field wall and the Pirates had won the game and the World Series from the New York Yankees.

If there was any more thrilling occasion in sports during 1960, the nation's sports writers and broadcasters hardly know about it. Voting in the annual Associated Press poll, 77 named Mazeroski's series-winning homer as the thrill of the year. Another 26 listed the final World Series game, including a series of exciting events that led up to the winning wallop.

Hole-In-One Is Worth $50,000 At Golf Event

By JIM BACON

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Golf's play for pay swingers, enticed by a $50,000 hole-in-one jackpot, tee off today in the second annual $100,000-added Palm Springs Golf Classic.

Some 128 pros, along with such famous amateurs as Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, begin the first round of a 90-hole event that lasts five days over as many courses.

Professionals all will be sharp-shooting at par three holes. A hole-in-one is worth $50,000 to the lucky clubber.

Last year Joe Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., scored the only ace. The stocky pro was cut up in so many pieces that he only netted $12,500 for himself.

The touring pros often make pretourney deals to split up prize money with their fellow golfers. Campbell is back again, as is Arnold Palmer, who won the tournament in 1960. Palmer's final round of 65 was the source of his phenomenal string of golf successes that earned him a record $65,000 last year, making him pro golfer of 1960.

In four starts this year Palmer has won only the San Diego Open. Among the other top pros are South Africa's Gary Player, winner of the San Francisco International; Bob Rosburg, Crosby Open winner, and Bob Goalby, Los Angeles Open winner.

The professionals team with amateurs in the first four rounds, making 512 golfers in all.

On Sunday the 60 low pros square off among themselves for a $50,000-added pot.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

Columbiana County trappers have seen modern history made. There is not a person living in Ohio who has trapped a beaver legally except the present generation, and the 1961 season ended on the 21st.

At present, 42 beaver pelts have been legally sealed to become the property of local trappers. No doubt about it, more beavers would have been trapped if all the waters were not frozen almost solid.

THE LARGEST taken was trapped by Jess Howell of Columbiana, weighing 52½ pounds. It measured 10 inches over what is called a "blanket pelt."

Incidentally, beaver pelts have been bringing up to $16. Jess went on to say that before he got the beaver to his car he wished he had never seen it. Having a little handicap in the way of a physical ailment, he over-did himself.

Everybody knows it's most difficult to get rid of rats permanently. They are always chiseling in.

The same is true in the trapping fraternity. Instead of "slinging the steel," they just go out and "steal."

Jess checked one of his traps and the blood on the ice plus a missing $2.50 trap was evidence enough that someone stole beaver, trap and all.

Game protectors cannot do anything about trap stealing, but they can give a citation to any person caught lifting a trap without their name on it. If I know our county judges, they won't tolerate petty theft.

I have to sign a fur buyer's permit. I don't know what will happen if I refuse to sign such a permit. I do not have the final say. On the other hand if I hear of this kind of business going on, and can prove it, I will refuse to sign the permit.

Pay the kids top price and not one cent more than a pelt is worth and you might feel better.

It all sums up to one thing: Hunting, fishing and trapping is a wonderful sport and here to stay just as true as with football, golf, tennis or any other sport.

No one has a monopoly on recreation. To each his own as long as it is legal.

Judge Promises Probe

Pennsylvania, Ohio Laws Conflict In Driver's Case

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today promised an investigation to uncover an apparent fault in either the laws of Ohio or Pennsylvania that permitted an East Liverpool man to renew a Pennsylvania driver's license after both his operator's permit and his vehicle registration had been suspended under the Ohio financial responsibility law.

That apparent lack of reciprocity in the laws of the two adjoining states confronted the judge today in the case of Abe B. Samberson, 1624 Cleveland Ave., who was arrested by the State Highway Patrol Tuesday on Route 30 while operating a truck.

Court records show Samberson's operator's permit was suspended for 6 months on June 27, 1960, when he was found guilty in Municipal Court on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

In addition, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, acting as a result of the same case, notified Samberson both his driver's license and his vehicle registration would be lifted for three years if he failed to comply with the financial responsibility law at the end of the suspension imposed by the local court.

A patrol check showed Samberson has not produced proof of financial responsibility and his permit and his registration still are under suspension.

However, at the time of his arrest, he produced a Pennsylvania driver's license valid through 1963. It carried his local address.

Judge Chertoff pointed out the possession of the Pennsylvania permit did not give Samberson a right to drive in Ohio, as that right still is under suspension. He gave the motorist a suspended 30-day term in County Jail.

The judge enquired how Samberson obtained the Pennsylvania permit.

The defendant replied he has had a Pennsylvania license for five years. He explained he formerly

Swallow Remembers Landmarks In Flight
MADISON, Wis. — University of Wisconsin graduate student has found that at least one type of wild bird, the bank swallow, finds its way back home by remembering landmarks.

Theodore Sargent of Harwich, Mass., who is completing three years' research on the homing habits of birds, found that as long as the swallows could see the surrounding terrain from their cages, they had the homing tendency up to 50 miles from their burrows.

When the cages were covered, the birds showed no homeward orientation.

Kennedy To Ask More Funds If Balanced Budget's Periled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will ask Congress for additional revenue to match any new spending requests that could be blamed for unbalancing the Eisenhower budget.

Kennedy has made it clear he feels former President Dwight D. Eisenhower left behind a budget that cannot be balanced without an unexpected upturn in the nation's economy.

The President was represented as being determined to make it clear that if there is a deficit in the year beginning July 1, the preceding Republican administration will have to take its share of the blame.

Kennedy told his party chieftains at a White House conference Tuesday he has ordered his economic advisers to analyze published estimates that revenues may fall $5 billion below the $82.3-billion figure set by Eisenhower.

As a further complication, an upsurge of foreign aid purchases in the summer and fall months of 1960—presumably to bolster the economy—may make it necessary for Kennedy to ask supplemental funds to keep the overseas pipelines from running dry.

Faced with what he regards as a left-over deficit, Kennedy emphasized that he will not add to this by asking for additional spending without matching revenue.

In this connection, he is expected to renew Eisenhower's recommendations for postal rate increases and a half-cent a gallon boost in the federal gasoline tax.

Although the President spelled out no advance details, his anti-recession message to Congress Thursday is not expected to call for any massive increase in spending.

The United States acquired the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917 for $25 million.

FBI Investigates Alleged Election Fraud In Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—The FBI is investigating to see if there was any violation of federal law in the Nov. 8 election in Trumbull County.

Joseph Baldine, defeated Democratic candidate for county commissioner, has charged fraud in connection with absentee balloting. He is contesting the election of Dr. W. A. James, a Republican.

Baldine said he asked the FBI at Youngstown for an investigation on the basis that civil rights laws may have been violated in the absentee ballots. He questioned the ballots on the grounds that many electors received help in voting and many ballots were marked by others than voters.

He also charged irregularities in connection with requests for absentee ballot applications and handling of identification envelopes in the absentee balloting.

E. E. Hargett, agent-in-charge of the Cleveland FBI office, said Tuesday the inquiry was being made "at the specific request of John Daor, acting assistant attorney general, Civil Rights Division," in the Department of Justice.

A hearing was resumed Tuesday in Common Pleas Court on Baldine's suit contesting the election. The hearing had been recessed Jan. 20. Exhibits introduced at the hearing included depositions taken from 47 voters.

Favorite item of fare for the tourist stopping for a snack along the road is the hamburger. Second in popularity for lunch are the salad sandwiches — egg, ham, tuna. Following this, travelers choose roast beef, corned beef, and bacon, lettuce and tomato.

Midland Troop Plans Dinner

Midland Boy Scout Troop 415 will hold its Blue and Gold dinner Feb. 9 at 6 p. m. at the Steelworkers Hall, Tom Wuchina, troop secretary, announced.

The coverdinner will be for members and their families. During the program, the new charter for 1961 will be presented. Glenn Roberts of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. will be a guest speaker. John Horter of the Ft. McIntosh District organization and extension committee will attend.

Fr. Francis E. Paul, pastor of the Presentation Catholic Church, will give the invocation. A Court of Honor will be held and awards presented. Nine boys will receive personal fitness merit badges. Some will receive 1961 Golden Jubilee achievement awards.

Two patrols participated in a first aid meet Saturday at Rochester. Some 20 patrols competed. Troop 415's Eagle patrol received 805 points and the Hawk Patrol 724, both out of a possible 980. Providing transportation were George Huha, scoutmaster, James Lento, assistant, and Wuchina.

A campout is planned for Feb. 17-19 at Crucible Park when boys will be tested for skills in order to advance to the next rank.

Ohioan One Of 25 Hurt In Train Mishap

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—George Minhardt, 52, of Cincinnati was one of 25 passengers injured when their New York-to-Miami streamliner smashed into a truck Tuesday.

The truck driver, Wallace H. Futch Jr., 28, of Vero Beach was killed. Minhardt was treated at a hospital and released.

T-Agents, Officers Find Moonshine Still

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Treasury agents and Portage County sheriff's officers Tuesday lokked in a chicken house at the residence of John Dula in Atwater and found an 80-gallon moonshine still. The raiders also seized 3,000 gallons of mash, 17½ gallons of moonshine whiskey and 300 pounds of sugar. Detective Joseph Hege-

Dula, who was reported in North Carolina, is being sought, the detective said. No charges have been filed.

The world's largest cooper reserve is located in Chile.
